State Demos OK convention delegate plan

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Missouri's state Democratic Central Committee has approved a plan to select 53 delegates and 12 alternates for the national Democratic party's Dec. 6-8 mid-term convention in Kansas City.

The committee voted, 35-0, at the end of a five-hour meeting here Saturday, to toss out a provision in the delegate selection plan for proportional representation by special interest groups in the delegate selection meetings.

Under the plan, designed to allow women and minority group members to select their own delegates, a group comprising 20 per cent of the participants in a delegate selection meeting could hold its own caucus and elect delegates with voting power commensurate to its strength at the meeting.

Hilda Newman of Kansas City moved to strike the section. Joseph P. Roddy of St. Louis, holding seven proxies from the 3rd District in St. Louis and the 10th Congressional District of southeast Missouri, cast all seven against [illegible] proportional representation plan.

Opponents of the proposal, including former Gov. Warren E. Hearnes—who did not attend the meeting—object in part because the percentage of strength might not divide evenly into the number of delegates to be selected from a particular meeting.

Eleven of the 53 delegates will be the nine Democratic U.S. representatives and two U.S. senators. Eight will be selected by the state Democratic Committee Sept. 10.

That leaves 34 to be selected from the 10 congressional districts in caucuses to be held Aug. 27. Mass meetings of ward and county Democratic groups Aug. 20 will select the delegates to the district caucuses. The 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 5th districts will have four delegates each to Kansas City and the rest will have three each.

The national committee rejected Missouri's first delegate selection plan, which would have allowed members of congressional district committees to pick 34 of the delegates rather than having the 34 picked by persons elected at the various county, ward and township meetings.

State Sen. Raymond Howard, D-St. Louis, attempted to change the selection formula but withdrew his motions after it was point out that the national committee had stipulated certain selection guidelines.

Howard said the 1st District should have five delegates because of its higher Democratic vote total in 1972. He also said blacks and women would have better representation under his proposal. And he objected to having the state Central Committee select eight delegates. Because 11 congressmen already are selected, he said, the people only get to vote on 65 per cent of Missouri's delegates to the Kansas City convention.

The National Democratic Committee put no quota system on blacks or women. The formula includes the total population in each congressional district and the percentage of votes cast in 1972 for the Democratic presidential candidate from each district.

3 burglary suspects sought

A ringing bell apparently scared burglars away from Shy's Drug Store in the Midtowner Village Shopping Center sometime Sunday. In their haste to escape they left behind $400 in stamps they had stuffed into a paper bag.

David Shy, owner of the store, said he discovered the break-in about 9:40 p.m. Shy said he thought the thieves were scared away by a ringing bell from the drive-in window.

The burglars had managed to open the safe in Shy's office, but did not get in the drug cabinet.

Entry to the store was gained by breaking out a lock in the front door, Shy said.

The burglars had stuffed $400 in stamps into a paper bag and put it behind a counter, where the stamps were found this morning.

Police are looking for three men in a cream or white-colored car believed involved in the burglary and in another burglary in Cape Girardeau.

A large amount of controlled drugs were found missing at 2:40 a.m. today from Finney's Drug Store, 709 Broadway Ave., Cape Girardeau.

The theft was discovered by a police officer who found the back door of the store open. An inventory was being completed this morning.

A third burglary was attempted sometime Sunday at McPheeter's Clinic in Poplar Bluff. The thieves entered the building but failed to get into the pharmacy.

It wasn't known this morning if there was a connection between the Poplar Bluff break-in and the ones in Sikeston and Cape Girardeau.

The cream or white-colored car was reportedly spotted in Stoddard County at 2:35 a.m. today.

Thieves ripped two coin boxes from the wall of the Kerr-McGee Car Wash on Murray Lane between 5 p.m. Saturday and 7:23 a.m.

13 hurt in SeMo accidents

Thirteen persons were injured, one seriously, in eight traffic accidents in the Bootheel area over the weekend, according to the highway patrol.

Cynthia Bradlo, 17, of Poplar Bluff was seriously injured at 9:05 p.m. Sunday on Route T nine miles northeast of Poplar Bluff when the car in which she was riding ran off the road at an excessive rate of speed. The patrol said the car, driven by Michael Nelson Graham, 21, of Poplar Bluff ran off the wrong side of the road, through a fence and overturned three times before coming to rest on its wheels in a field.

Graham and another passenger, William E. Webb, 18, of Poplar Bluff, received minor injures. All were taken to Doctors Hospital in Poplar Bluff.

Two persons were injured at 12:30 a.m. Saturday on Route HH two and a half miles west of Piedmont in an accident involving three vehicles.

The accident occurrred when a car driven south by Rebecca Sue Lorch, 32, of Piedmont was turning left into a private drive and swerved to avoid striking a car parked partially in the drive. The parked car was occupied by Michael E. Shepherd, 18, of Piedmont.

A third car driven east by Wayne Stanley Pichon, 23, of Piedmont, topped a hillcrest and struck the Lorch auto in the side, knocking it into the Shepherd auto.

Pichon and Mrs. Lorch received monor injuries but were not hospitalized.

An accident at 1:45 p.m. Saturday 16 miles south of Fredericktown on Highway 67 resulted in two injuries.

According to the patrol, a northbound car driven by Donald Albert Straussner, 35, of St. Louis crossed the center line and collided with a southbound car driven by David A. Duckett, 35, of Florissant. Duckett drove to the shoulder to avoid the accident.

Straussner received a broken hip and his son, Timothy L. Straussner, 6, of St. Louis suffered facial cuts. Both were taken to Madison County Memorial Hospital in Fredericktown.

Two cars collided at 5:30 p.m. Saturday when they met on a blind curve on a gravel road one-half mile west of Perryville.

THE BARBARIANS AMONG US

Our modern vandals are giving the original Vandals a bad name.

The tribes who sacked Rome in the fifth century presumably didn't know any better when they destroyed so much of that city's art and literature and momuments. What excuse is there for those whose dismal handiwork is found in every city, in every public park, in every historical place that is not constantly guarded?

In New York, the Bronx Society of Arts and Sciences has asked the city's parks department to bar the public from the cottage in which Edgar Allan Poe lived in the 1840s and where he wrote some of his memorable poems. The cottage has been a continual target of vandals, who have not only stolen numerous Poe mementoes but have tried to set the building on fire from time to time.

South of the Bronx, in New York's Central Park, it's said that there is not a statue or monument that has not been covered with spray- painted grafitti.

The problem is hardly unique to New York. At a high school in Lakewood, Ohio, the other day, the famed Cleveland orchestra was forced to cut short a concert because it was bombarded with slingshot- fired paper clips from the student audience. It was the second time this had happened and each time it was a case of the ignorant, undisciplined few spoiling something for the many — as it is everywhere vandals strike.

Society today is not only being held hostage by the pollitical terrorists who kidnap and bomb and extort. More and more, the great mass of decent, law- abiding citizens, along with the cultural artifacts that are the visible heritage of civilization, are at the mercy of the barbarians among us who deface, destroy, wreck and ruin.

This is almost too good to be true. National Review has nominated Miss Janiece Crimmins as the Legislator of Our Times. Miss Crimmins, now in her second term in the Indiana General Assembly, is the only member of 150 in that body who did not introduce any legislation this session. She did not introduce a bill last session, either. "People kid me and say I'm not doing my job," she says. "But I see no reason to dream up some new law just to appear busy. Most new laws are either going to cost someone money or take away someone's liberties. We're overregulating, over- protecting, and overdirecting the people. I think people resent being told how and when and where to do everything. Passing 300 new laws a year is now what they want." Miss Crimmins says that if she ever does introduce a bill, it might be on to limit legislators to only one bill per session.

BARRON'S, Business & Financial Weekly notes, "DDT, ruled the EPA, may be used by the U. S. Forest Service to control tussock moth infestations on some 650,000 acres of public forest land in Washington, Oregon and Idaho, in case of an 'emergency' -- which EPA hopes will not arise. However, EPA boss Russell E. Train admits that there is 'no assurance that the epidemic won't continue or, in fact, increase in the coming season.' EPA 'experts' erred last year, when they confidently expected the plague to subside ... Having helped devastate the environment, Mr. Train promptly attacked the Forest Service for 'almost totally inadequate' research efforts into alternative tussock moth controls. Private owners of timberland, as well as national parks, still are barred from protecting their trees with DDT."

We have to do something to help these towns and numbers of them can be helped by small industries. It's the job of the big cities to help do that, too, for we get business from any town in our area, no matter how small.

FOR FREE MEN ONLY

As the nation prepares to observe Freedom of the Press Day on June 7, it is fitting to consider what freedom of the press means to U.S. citizens in the crucible of the nuclear age. Freedom of the press allows an honest evaluation of the President's efforts to achieve peace and a "working arrangement" with former communist enemies. Although sometimes harsh in its approach, the free press permits every citizen to make an unvarnished assessment of political candidates. It probes the motives and principles of public figures who enjoy positions of leadership. The free press is the only genuine disciplinary force that can be exerted against government. It is the articulate focal point of public opinion.

A free press is literally the watchdog of a free people. At times wrong conclusions are drawn from what the press reveals, but over the long pull, its batting average is good. If every nation enjoyed the vision that is given by a free press to the people of the U.S., the cause of world peace would be immeasurably brighter. The purpose of Freedom of the Press Day is "To celebrate and promote press freedom in the Americas." In observing the Day, we should remember that it is an occasion for free men only.

DREAM-WORLD LOGIC

Environmentalists, editorial writers and the general public seem to have become submerged in a dream world with regard to such things as electric power projects. Their sole interest, apparently, is how the environment will be affected rather than how people are going to live. The psychological approach is that of a man who worries more about the smoke from his campfire on a sub- zero night than about how to keep from freezing to death. Late figures form the Edison Electric Institute show that approximately 1.6 million new customers were served by the electric industry in 1971 and that more tha 90 percent of the new customers were residential. What are these people supposed to do -- freeze in the night?

So far, the country has been able to tolerate the kind of one- sided environmentalism that shuts its eyes to the laws of survival. It has been able to do this for the simple reason that the electric utility industry has managed to keep energy flowing to homes, businesses and farms with little interruption -- so far. In spite of handicaps, it has even managed to increase generating capacity. Again, according to figures from the Edison Electric Institute, the generating capacity of the electric utility industry in the 48 contiguous states at the end of 1971 was an estimated 370.5 million kilowatts, representing a 9.3 percent increase over the 1970 total of 339.1 million kilowatts.

What the dream- world environmentalists fail to realize is that these hundreds of millions of kilowatts not only sustain life, but also provide a major part of the answer to pollution problems. In simplest terms, they have yet to acknowledge that a campfire produces needed heat as well as smoke, or that modern power plants produce very little in the way of smoke, stack emissions or pollution of any kind.

U. S. STEEL CUTS DOWN ITS ENERGY COMSUMPTION

"We have the capability today to produce a ton of finished steel with almost 15 per cent less energy than was required a decade agao," E. B. Speer, chairman of United States Steel Corp., said.

Speaking to the Commissioners of Alleghany County (Penna.) he commended them for their decisive action providing industry with flexibility to use substitute fuels during the energy shortage.

"More than two-thirds of U. S. Steel's energy supply is obtained from metallurgical coal, coke, blast furnace gas, coke oven gas and from by-products derived from the coking process - oils and tars," he explained.

Most of the goal the company uses comes from its own mines. While most of the energy requirement is produced "in house," the various other forms of energy required are not interchanable. U.S. Steel, therefore, cannot operate without adequate natural gas, oil and electricity which is purchased from outside sources.

"One long- range program is aimed at the development of a process that can convert previously unusable coals having high sulfur and ash content to usable coke," Mr. Speer revealed. "The U. S. Government Office of Coal Research has awarded U. S. Steel a contract for further intensive work in this clean coke program," he said.

"U. S. Steel is also working on a process to produce a clean, low BTU fuel gas by gasification of coal. The clean fuel gas could be used as a replacement for gaseous and liquid fuels or it could be used to generate electricity, replacing conventional direct burning of coal in power-generating plants," he said.

Mr. Speer cited another research program which is aimed at annually recoving some 60,000 tons of ultra- fine coal from current waste and injecting it as a coal - oil slurry into blast furnaces to replace part of the oil currently being injected.

He noted that the electrical system is programmed to economize on electricity to the extent that it takes into account the heat generated by the lighting fixtures, the sun on the building's facade and even the collective body heat of the people who work there.

The first telephone directory was issued in 1878, in New Haven, Connecticut. It listed about fifty names.

CHALK UP ANOTHER CRIME AGAINST NATURE

The controversy over the trans- Alaska oil pipeline never lacked for headlines. A similar battle of even longer duration over a U. S. Corps of Engineers plans to build a dam in Missouri's Meramec River basic has gone relatively unreported around the country.

On the drawing boards since the late 1930s and finally authorized in 1966, the $93- million dam would be situated about 75 miles southwest of St. Louis.

A 1,000- page environmental impact study prepared by the Corps holds that the benefits of the dam would include not only water recreation and economic opportunity for the area, but a water supply to meet the future needs of metropolitan St. Louis and supplemental stream flow during dry spells.

Ecologists and conservationists claim that the dam would flood some 50 miles of free- flowing streams and 12,600 acres of largely wild woodland inhabited by already endangered species of animals, as well as submerge about 100 caves. The Meramec Valley has the highest known cave density of any river system in the world.

One of them is Onondaga Cave, whose owner, Lester B. Dill, calls the proposed project "a crime against Mother Nature" worse than anything ever perpetrated by the Jesse James gang, which reportedly used to hide out in the area.

The St. Louis Coalition for the Environment and other groups challenge the recreational value of the lake that would be created by the dam, and also question whether the federal government should spend money to foster motor-boating in view of the energy crisis. The Ozark Chapter of the ever- alert Sierra Club has filed suit in U. S. District Court to block the project.

The Corps of Engineers has locked horns not only with the environmentalists but with the U. S. Department of the Interior as well which also is against the project, claiming that the government could purchase the entire flood plain downstream from the dam for half what the dam would cost.

Few Americans will ever set foot in Alaska's wilderness, and the ecological disturbance caused by the pipeline will be minimal and will be vastly offset by its economic benefits.

Many thousands of Americans visit the scenic Meramec Valley every year, yet somehow the fight for its preservation has captured little national attention.

PRICE AND WAGE CONTROLS REJECTED AT LAST

The Senate has wisely defeated legislation to continue federal authority to impose wage and price controls. Constructive Senators were supported by both business and organized labor in their defeat of continued controls.

During the Senate debate, Sen. William Brock of Tennessee pointed out what is wrong with controls on the economy: "Controls have resulted in incredible dislocation in the economy. They have created shortages, unemployment and loss of jobs and property without due process of law, without protection to the individual, the family, the company or anyone else."

Sen. Brock added that in the last year, working people "have lost almost 5 per cent of their real income, not as a result of lack of productivity, but because the government of this country imposed restrictions on the production of this country, impeded the processes of the market, and made it impossible for them to compete."

Sen. William Proxmire of Wisconsin, normally a left-sider, joined with those opposing controls. He said that the best way to fight inflation would be for the government to eliminate deficit spending. He urged drastic cuts in the President's proposed $300 billion budget. Price and wage controls, Proxmire added, serve to distract citizens' attention from the real causes of rising prices.

Later in the debate, Sen. Brock observed: "There is nothing about (controls) consistent with freedom. If we are going to face up to that, I think we had better get rid of controls, get rid of control of American business, and give it back to the people." The Senate wisely followed Brock's advice and deserves our thanks. HLH

Milk Money and Trucks: Impeachment Chief Rodino's Reelection Campaign Got Some Fine Contributions Itself

NEWARK, N.J. — There's something positively fascinating about Congressman Peter Wallace Rodino, Jr.'s passion for impeachment. His dedication to investigation is so sudden and out of character. As chairman of, and long a force in, the powerful House Judiciary Committee, Rodino never did appear to take as a personal insult the cruelest corruption, extortion, violence, rottenness and deep political muck which swirled through his and his neighboring congressional districts for decades.

It still does, In fact, one of his old friends and political collaborators in Congress, in the National Democratic Club of New Jersey, and here in Essex County, ex- Representative, ex- Newark Mayor Hugh Addonizio, is doing ten years for extortion and wholesale peddling of political influence.

Don't get me wrong. Peter Rodino is clean. He was a fine World War II soldier. He is devoted and decorated. But why the double standard? Why did his Judiciary Committee, with all its subcommittees on crime and the criminal justice system, ignore the fact that the report of the Governor's Select Commission on Civil Disorders, State of New Jersey (1968), said bluntly that under Addonizio "everything in city hall is for sale ... there is a price on everything."

Now, as the Talmudic students say, there are two ways to view this. One-- Rep. Rodino knew nothing of this vast corruption. This would hardly qualify him to direct the impeachment probe of President Nixon whom Rodino once said should be vetoed out of office.

Or, it can be said that Rodino is a man of compassion. Hugh Addonizio was his good friend. They both worked closely in the northern New Jersey Democratic party ranks in the organization's worst days -- the late '40s and '50s; they collaborated and socialized as Congressmen from adjoining districts. For, Addonizio represented the 11th C.D. from 1948 to 1962. Rodino, like Addonizio, was elected a Congressman in 1948 and still represents the 10th C.D. This includes Newark which Addonizio and his crime family friends looted.

Thus, it is possible that loyalty to a friend motivated Rodino and kept him comparatively silent on the truly brutal exploitation of the Addonizio- underworld mob of the citizenry of the scandal-ripped county.

Compassion is Congressman Rodino's sacred privilege. A double standard is not.

For example, there is the matter of political contributions. One record shows that Rodino once voted an increase of $2 billion in farm price supports. That was some time ago.

More recently the Special Political Agricultural Community Education (SPACE) Committee of Louisville, Ky., contributed $1,000 to a 1972 committee for the reelection of Peter Rodino. SPACE is the political arm of the Committee of Dairymen, Inc. This is a milk marketing cooperative. What intrigues me is that Louisville, Ky., is rather far to be considered a Newark suburb.

There also is a 1972 $1,000 contribution to Rodino from the Washington, D.C., Truck Operators Non- Partisan Committee. And another $1,000 from the Political Action Committee for Cable TV.

Agreed that $1,000 is somewhat less than $100,000 -- but then there is no such thing as being a little pregnant in politics as the late Lyndon Johnson used to say when he defined politics as the art of the possible.

There is, of course, the $28,923 contributed to Rodino's 1972 campaign by what Common Cause calls "labor group committees." Well, that's doing what comes naturally. Of this amount, some $3,000 came from the national COPE, the AFL-CIO's political arm.

Labor considers him a deserving friend of the people. They count his combined political record as having voted right 130 times and wrong twice. Consistent here, isn't he?

Nor has he let down the Americans for Democratic Action (ADA). The ADA considers he voted their brand of liberalism 92 per cent of the time. Consistent here too.

But his major inconsistency is obvious.

Well, let it not be said that he has ignored the major war on organized crime entirely. Most recently he has appealed to the Justice Department's Law Enforcement Assistance Administration to send along some funds for a probe in and around his district.

There is a joint city- county organized crime task force, run by some fine law- enforcement officials. It needs money to carry it through to Jan. 1. Congressman Rodino is helping.

He could help more. Under him, as chairman of the Judiciary Committee, are such subcommittees as Courts, Civil Liberties and the Administration of Justice; Crime; Criminal Justice; and Immigration, Citizenship and International Law. These committees would have a field day in many parts of New Jersey -- especially in Congressman Rodino's district, in which is Newark and its suburbs, long considered "the very heart of organized crime in New Jersey." Rodino might ask who said that.

One of his good friends did. So his passion for probing could be more bipartisan. And more productive in rooting out real crimes against the people -- some very poor people at that.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: Plea on the Potomac: 'Do Not Impeach Me!'

WASHINGTON --Over brandy and a cigar aboard the presidential yacht Sequoia, President Nixon appealed to a dozen conservative congressmen the other evening to take a stand on impeachment.

"If you believe I am innocent," he urged, "vote against impeachment in the House. Don't pass the buck to the Senate."

He reportedly fears many representatives may try to get off the hook by casting a procedural vote for impeachment. They could explain they didn't mean to judge the President but merely wanted to bring the case before the Senate for a decision.

This rationale could produce an overwhelming House vote in favor of impeachment. The psychological impact, he is said to feel, could influence senators to vote to remove him from office.

So as the Sequoia cruised down the rain -swept Potomac, the President asked his conservative House friends to settle the impeachment issue in the House.

He assured them that he has cooperated as far as he could with the House Judiciary Committee, which is inquiring into impeachment. He couldn't release tapes and documents, which might damage U.S. relations with other nations, he said.

He explained that he had had a number of private conversations with other heads of state. It would seriously violate international protocol, he said, if these conversations should be divulged.

The President's shipboard dinner companions were too polite to ask how these conversations could be compromised by release of the Watergate tapes. Presumably, he didn't discuss his Watergate woes with other world leaders.

The President, obviously cheered by the success of peace negotiaitons in the Middle East, was in a bantering, buoyant mood throughout the three -hour dinner cruise.

He joked with his guests about running Secretary of State Henry Kissinger for the Senate. Kissinger could be groomed for the seat of retiring Sen. Norris Cotton, R -N.H., and a bipartisan campaign could be organized to make Kissinger chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, the President speculated gleefully.

He suggested that the resourceful Kissinger, as a Senate chariman, might even be able to negotiate peaceful relations between the Senate and the White House.

The President gloated over the defeat of Sen. J. William Fulbright, D -Ark., which will remove him as Senate Foreign Relations chairman. As next in line, Sen. John Sparkman, D -Ala., would have to give up the Senate Banking Chairmanship to take over Fulbright's chair.

The President said he hoped Sparkman will choose the Foreign Relations chairmanship, which he has now said he will do. And this would make Sen. William Proxmire, D -Wis., the new Senate Banking chairman.

"Those bankers are beside themselves," chortled Nixon. "The bankers don't want Proxmire."

Speaking seriously, Nixon told his dinner guests that two days before the Syrian - Israeli truce, "I wouldn't have given a 50 -50 chance of an agreement."

He told of the dramatic cables Kissinger had sent from the Middle East. Turning to his staff chief Alexander Haig, the President cracked: "If those cables should be published, they would make quite a book, wouldn't they?"

He was optimistic about his forthcoming summit meeting with Leonid Brezhnev in Moscow. The President said he would have more flexibility to negotiate than would Brezhnev. The Soviet leader is far more subservient to the politburo, said Nixon, than most Americans realize.

On the other hand, he said, the Founding Fathers had given the American president more "maneuvering room" than other rulers possess.

Earlier in the evening, Rep. Gillespie Montgomery, D -Miss., asked Nixon magnanimously: "Mr. President, what can we do for you?"

The President responded to this offer by urging his conservative guests to support his veto of "irresponsible spending bills." Government spending was spurring inflation, he said, which could become the nation's biggest headache.

He also admonished them not to let the Pentagon sell them a military force superior to that of the Soviets. "All we need is to be equal," said the President, "don't you guys let the military push you into superiority."

Footnote: The Presidnet served Chateubriand, with mushrooms, peas and a spaghetti dish. He also passed out Sequoia matchbooks, which he autographed. This was the second time in two weeks that he has taken conservative congressmen on a dinner cruise as part of his effort to gain support against impeachment.

Governors claim states have leadership roles

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — The nation's governors open their annual meeting here today, saying they hope to avoid speculation about scandals in the nation's capital while claiming they are doing a better job of meeting the problems of the Watergate era.

Washington's Republican Gov. Daniel J. Evans, this year's conference chairman, told a news conference Sunday that in areas of campaign reform and government ethics, "states have quite clearly taken national leadership."

"In state after state significant sunshine laws, and other similar laws on ethics, on campaign limitations, on lobbyist reporting, open government have taken place while there has not been similar action as dramatic at the national level."

The opening day's business sessions included Evans' "State of the States" speech, a roundtable discussion with key congressional leaders of both parties and a panel on health care.

The health care seminar featured Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.; American Medical Association President Dr. Russell B. Roth; and Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Caspar Weinberger.

All but four of the nation's governors are expected to attend the formal opening of the conference today. Govs. John Burns of Hawaii, Bob Ray of Iowa, Francis Sargent of Massachusetts and George Wallace of Alabama have said they would not attend.

On Sunday, the conference's executive committee approved a broad resolution, sponsored by Govs. William G. Milliken, R-Mich., and Patrick J. Lucey, D-Wis., calling for reforms "at all levels of government."

The resolution, due for consideration by the full conference Wednesday, urges "loophole-free" campaign finance reforms in public campaign financing, strict ethics codes, wider disclosure of lobbying activities and greater openness in government.

Most of the questions at Evans' news conference and during an appearance of six governors on NBC's "Meet the Press" dealt with Watergate and President Nixon's refusal to supply additional evidence sought by the House impeachment probe and special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

Three governors from each party said Nixon should supply the material sought by the House Judiciary Committee. Democrat Jimmy Carter of Georgia and Republican Tom McCall of Oregon said failure to do so would be grounds for removing Nixon from office.

"He should give them everything they want or step down as President," said McCall, the only Republican governor who wants Nixon to resign from office.

"I personally believe the President is guilty, and I think that the release of evidence will prove it," Carter said.

Those who said they thought Nixon should provide the materials sought by the House panel were Evans, and Govs. Daniel Walker, D-Ill., Wendell R. Anderson, D-Minn., and Wendell H. Ford, D-Ky.

Evans was asked at the news conference if he could forsee a situation in which Nixon would be justified in balking at a Supreme Court order to supply Watergate evidence.

He said the question was "too speculative" but noted any court decision is composed of a verdict and a written opinion.

"The opinion itself may be highly qualified and as such might not clearly represent an impeachable offense if the President were to say 'No,'" said Evans, who is not a lawyer.

Disagreement emerged over the impact of Watergate on the mood of the country.

Carter, who heads the Democratic campaign drive for the November congressional and gubernatorial elections, said "Watergate is really an embarrassing thing for the American people.

"It's kind of like having an illegitimate child in the family. You know it's happened. You know who is responsible. But you don't want to talk about it much in public."

Phelps publicizing ombudsman role

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The office of Lt. Gov. William C. Phelps is spending about $100 this week to publicize the lieutenant governor's role as ombudsman, a person who deals with citizens' complaints about government.

Letters, slides and tape recordings are being sent to 110 radio stations and 27 television stations.

A spokesmen for Phelps' office estimated the cost to make the tapes at $75 and the postage at about $30.

The tapes have one 60-second announcement, three 30-second spots and two at 10 seconds each.

The letters ask the stations to air the material as a public service. In the tapes, Phelps cites examples of how he has helped people get income tax refunds and aid to the blind payments.

The lieutenant governor's office also reported he has written the University of Missouri curators, inquiring about closed meetings and whether they violated the open meetings law.

Phelps has worked as ombudsman for about a year. The legislature has not appropriated any extra money for the job. For the past two sessions, bills proposing to set up a state office of citizens' complaints have failed in the legislature.

Phelps has a secretary, an administrative assistant and two summer interns. He expects to get another summer intern in the next week.

Ann Landers

Snooping moms lack something

Dear Ann Landers: I hope I'm not too late to get in on the fracas about the mother who read her daughter's diary.

Girls don't need all that privacy and neither do boys. I read anything I find lying around -- letters, diaries, notes in my kids' pockets, it makes no difference. I am deeply interested in what my children are doing and the best way to find out is to keep my eyes open for any and all clues.

My own daughter (now grown and the mother of six) told me that a friend off hers would never have known that her son was selling dope if she hadn't read his mail. Luckily she was able to get him to stop before he was arrested.

Five women in this office agree there is NOTHING we wouldn't do to protect our children. -- Snoopy Mom

Dear Mom: Sorry, but if snooping is the only way a mother can learn what her children are doing, something is wrong with the relationship.

One of the reasons our government, at the highest level, has lost its credibility is becaus several young men thought as you do. They broke into an office like a bunch of common thieves in search of information to use against a political candidate, and look at where it has led us.

Dear Ann Landers: My parents were divorced four years ago. I am 18, living at home with my mother and stepfather and a 17- year- old brother who has been in and out of trouble with the law.

The problem is my mother. She and I don't get along very well. The main thing we fight about is that I want to see my real father. She says if I go to see him I can never come home.

All this is making a nervous wreck out of me. I want to move out of the house and share an apartment with a friend. I think we can hack it financially. Mom says once I leave she won't let me back in the house.

I need someone to advise me. What is the wise thing to do? -- Getting Ulcers At 18

Dear Friend: You've left too many gaps in your story for me to give you a green light to move, which is what you really want.

I don't know if you are in school, or if you plan to quit school and go to work. I know nothing about your real father -- whether or not he has expressed any interest in seeing you, or if he has contributed to your support. Has he remarried? There are too many unanswered question that would bear heavily on my answer.

I suggest you discuss this problem with your favorite aunt, a clergyman or a family counselor -- someone who could evaluate your situation based on all the facts.

Dear Ann Landers: I need to know right away if it is possible for a virgin to become pregnant the first time she has sexual relations. My friends say no, but the girl has a few symptoms of pregnancy and I'm beginning to wonder.

Please answer in the paper. This is important, not only to me but to others who may be relying on false information. -- Idaho Question

Dear Ida: The answer is yes. A girl can become pregnant the first time she has sexual relations.

Produce executive explains meaning of commodity grades

WASHINGTON, D.C. --Consumers are frequently confused when they see U.S. Department of Agriculture grades for fresh fruits and vegetables used at retail level.

Since grade names are sometimes used by retailers at the point -of -sale, John H. Beauchamp, president of the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association, explained recently what these USDA grade standards are --as well as what they are not.

"Grade standards," says Beauchamp, "were developed to enable growers and buyers to communicate with precise understanding across great distances.

"Once a series of standards had been established for a commondity, a California grower and a wholesaler in the East could understand exactly what the seller was offering and then determine price on that basis.

"At no time, he adds, "was this program intended as a guide for consumers. Nonetheless, they have been beneficial to consumers because of the greater marketing efficiencies achieved through their use."

Since the first ones were promulgated in 1917, grade standards have been developed for approximately 80 fresh fruits and vegetables. Each standard carefully describes the quality requirements for each grade of the commodity, with the highest grade representing the most desired qualities.

And according to Beauchamp, the lower grades represent quality levels that are of good value and sellable under normal market supply conditions, although below the top grade.

"Confusion among consumers arose," Beauchamp says, "when crop improvements yielded fruits and vegetables that were better than the established standards for Grade No. 1.

"Some commodities are now described by USDA grade standards as 'U.S. Extra Fancy,' 'U.S. Fancy' or 'U.S. Extra No. 1' as well as by 'U.S. No. 1.' The difficulty is that any of these can denote top grade for an individual commodity." Beauchamp points out.

"What it all boils down to," he says, " is that while consumers should take produce grades into account, they shouldn't rely too heavily on this information.

"First of all, poor handling in the chain distribution and in the store can render grades meaningless. Produce that at harvest was properly considered top quality can be mishandled to the point that it would no longer be so graded.

"The shopper must be guided by common sense knowledge of what constitues value when she shops for produce."he notes.

Beauchamp, who is also president of Ben E. Keith Company, Fort Worth, Texas, points out that the USDA is studying the lack of uniformity in its existing grade classifications to seek ways to make grade descriptions for all commodities more meaningful to all users. While still not intended as standards at the retail level, such uniformity would eliminate much of the existing confusion.

For most fresh fruits and vegetables, USDA has issued an individual standard consisting of a leaflet specifying grade requirements in terms of size, appearance, color, weight and condition.

"But, cautions Beauchamp, "these standards are intended as a form of shorthand for communication among growers, wholesalers and supermarket produce buyers."

5 Bulldogs on All-District list

Sikeston's talented senior catcher John Leible leads a parade of Bulldogs to domination of the 1974 All- District team released by the Missouri Sportswriters and Sportscasters today. Sikeston filled five of the 10 spots on this year's Class 1-A team, after compiling an 18-4 record and advancing to regional competition.

It was the third straight year for Sikeston's fleet receiver on the All-District team, and an award well deserved. Leible stroked the ball at a .406 pace, but it was his outstanding speed and defensive abilities that impressed the half dozen or so scouts that followed the receiver over the last half of the season.

Shortstop Rick Eisenbach was named all- district for the second time after a year's hiatus. Eisenbach raised his average nearly 200 points over last year to an unbelievable .485, in addition to doing the job in the field. The senior infielder teamed with his second base counterpart Bill Schatzley (who narrowly missed making the team) for 17 double plays in Sikeston's 22 games. As a leadoff man Eisenbach reached base nearly 70 per cent of the time.

It was also the second time Mitch Walker made the team. The senior right fielder- pitcher was named All-District righthanded pitcher last year, but his outstanding work with the bat and the undeniable contribution of Sikeston's Kenny Stokes in district play, forced Walker's switch to the outfield.

As a known pitcher, Walker had a strong throwing arm that runners were reluctant to take liberties with. At bat, the smallish slugger ripped the ball at a near-.500 pace after a slow start and finished at .388. Mitch also fashioned a 6-1 hurling record and ended his career with an overall 14-2 record for three years.

Kenny Stokes had seen just spot pitching duty until this year, but the two years of varsity competition gave the hard- throwing righthander the maturity to develop into a fine pitcher, instead of a thrower, and Stokes became the bell- cow of the Sikeston staff. Kenny won all three district games for Sikeston to lead the Bulldogs to their first district title since 1971.

Also a third baseman, the lefthanded hitter stroked the ball at a .385 pace in the past season.

Firstbaseman Jim Saulter has been a fearsome threat to opposing pitchers for the past two years, but it was in his senior year that the 6-foot-2, 195- pound first baseman really took hold. Hitting three homers in one game against the tough West Plains Zizzers, Saulters finished with six roundtrippers and a .404 average. He batted cleanup most of the year, leading the team in RBIs with 23 and third in average at .404.

On the 1-A team pitcher Jeff Jackson of Kelly was honored for the third straight year as righthanded pitcher. His teammate, infielder- pitcher Kenny Urhahn was named for the second straight year.

Memphis may wind up with 2

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Memphis, a city that didn't have a professional football team in April, may have two this month.

"It's possible the city will have two pro football teams," said Mike Lynn, leader of an eight-year drive to obtain a National Football League expansion team for the city.

NFL supporters say Memphis has a good chance of being named as a franchise site by NFL owners at their meeting Tuesday in New York, in spite of the fact that the World Football League has established the Memphis Southmen.

"I am cautiously optimistic, but I don't want to predict any longer what the NFL may or may not do," said Lynn, president of Mid-South Sports Inc. "Memphis was the favorite city of the NFL owners prior to the April meetings and I have found the owners' position the same."

Lamar Hunt, owner of the NFL Kansas City Chiefs, said Memphis has a high level of interest from a 14 or more of the NFL's 26 owners.

LL play to open tonight

The Sikeston Little League baseball season is scheduled to open tonight with two games in each of three leagues for a total of six contests at 6:30 and 8 o'clock on three fields.

American League openers tonight pit Bridger against Caproco in the first game and Righter against Fabick in the second. National League lidlifters match Lewis Furniture with Jaycees and Security National Bank with Kiwanis Club. Musial League curtain- raisers send Kingsway Plaza against Hart's Bread and Bank of Sikeston against Collins.

Youngsters receive baseball tips

Redbird rally tops luckless Padres

ST. LOUIS (AP) — If putting it all together means success in baseball, the San Diego Padres have yet to learn the lesson.

The Padres, the tailenders of the National League West, pounded out 17 hits Sunday but somehow managed to come up losers again, 9-6.

"That's been our story," sighed gray-haired Manager John McNamara, whose club led the St. Louis Cardinals 6-5 in the eighth inning.

"When we get pitching we haven't been getting any hitting," McNamara lamented. "When we get hitting, we haven't been getting the pitching."

Pitching, however, was not the Padres' worst suit until an erratic infield opened the door for the Cardinals, who made the most of nine hits.

Fleet Bake McBride was safe on Rich Morales' error to star the St. Louis eighth. Ken Reitz was walked purposely then Luis Melendez singled sharply for a 6-6 deadlock.

Cards newcomer Jack Heidemann forced Melendez with Reitz holding second, Tom Heintzelman singled on the infield and Ted Sizemore walked to force home Reitz.

That gave the Cards a 7-6 edge and enough to win but Reggie Smith's third hit, a single, produced two bonus unearned runs.

The Cards got two runs in the sixth off two singles, two walks and a passed ball for a 5-3 lead.

San Diego got one of the runs back on Dave Roberts' pop fly double in the seventh and climbed on top on run-producing singles by Bobby Tolan and Willie McCovey an inning later.

Veteran Tim McCarver afterward had words to summarize the loose marathon, which featured the deployment of six Cards pitchers among 35 players in all.

"It was one of the weirder ones, but you're absolved from all mistakes if you win," he noted. "It's not that easy to go out there every day and not be flat. We were flat and we were lucky."

Vicente Romo, 1-2, the third Padres hurler, was the victim and 38-year-old Orlando Pena, 3-0, the benefactor in relief.

"We're going to take them," maintained Smith, who totaled four runs batted in. "We're not too proud."

Sore A's no joke to AL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Oakland A's are still mad at the world ... and the rest of the American League's West Division isn't laughing much, either.

The A's, who seem to play best when they're sore about something, had a couple of gripes as they ran their winning streak to four games and 17 of 23 with Sunday' 6-4 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.

The two-time world champs are starting to put some daylight between themselves and the rest of the division. After the victory over the Brewers, the A's have a 3½-game bulge over the second-place Kansas City Royals.

Elsewhere, the Baltimore Orioles nipped the Texas Rangers 6-5 in 10 innings, the Boston Red Sox outslugged the Chicago White Sox 9-7, the Cleveland Indians trimmed Kansas City 5-2, the New York Yankees pounded the Minnesota Twins 11-1 and the Detroit Tigers shaded the California Angels 2-0.

Winning pitcher Catfish Hunter was angry about being lifted. And some A's were upset by a post-game player move that saw backup first baseman Pat Bourque sent to the minors.

Hunter checked the Brewers on seven hits, including Bob Coluccio's second-inning homer, before giving way to Rollie Fingers after two-out singles by George Scott and Darrell Porter in the eighth inning. Bob Hansen greeted the reliever with a run-scoring single.

Bourque, hitting a solid .286, was farmed out to make room for light-hitting infielder Dal Maxvill, reactivated from the disabled list.

Oakland's key hitting was done by Reggie Jackson, who slammed his 14th and 15th home runs, and Joe Rudi, who cracked a three-run shot.

Orioles 6, Rangers 5

Rich Coggins singled home pinch runner Al Bumbry with two out in the 10th inning, giving rookie Wayne Garland his first major league triumph with 5 2-3 innings of two-hits relief.

Red Sox 9, White Sox 7

Rico Petrocelli drilled a pair of two-run homers, one of them capping a five-run third inning. The victory was the 11th in the last 14 games for the Red Sox and gave them a 1½-game lead over Milwaukee in the American League East.

Indians 5, Royals 2

Solo homers by Leron Lee, Oscar Gamble and Dave Duncan boosted Gaylord Perry and the Indians over Kansas City.

Yankees 11, Twins 1

Home runs by Lou Piniella, Rick Dempsey and Ron Blomberg sparked a seven-run sixth inning that helped Mel Stottlemyre snap a personal fivegame losing streak and post his first victory since April 30.

Tigers 2, Angels 0

Norm Cash broke up a scoreless duel with an eighth-inning home run and Woodie Fryman and John Hiller blanked California on four hits.

Longshot pockets $50,000

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — He'd often considered quitting. He'd won less than $30,000 in 3½ years. Car trouble coming into Charlotte had just about busted him. He was down to gas money to the next stop. His wife was cooking hamburgers in the motel room.

And, with that background and that pressure, longshot Bob Menne birdied the final hole of regulation play to gain a tie and then scored from 30 feet on the first hole of sudden death to win the $50,000 first prize in the Kemper Open Golf Tournament.

"It means everything to me," the curly-haired man from Massachusetts said after his dramatic triumph Sunday. "It means the Masters and the Tournament of Champions. And it means money.

"Golly, $50,000."

Menne, 32, a struggler throughout his six-year tour career, whipped an iron shot to within six feet of the cup for the birdie on the 72nd hole that caught front-running Jerry Heard, then defeated the easygoing guy with the dramatic birdie putt on the first playoff hole.

"If I have to lose," said Heard, "I'm glad it's to Bob. He needs the money. I'm glad it's him and not somebody like (Jack) Nicklaus that's got more money than he'll ever need."

And Nicklaus and all the other great names in the game were in the field.

8 states to hold primaries Tuesday

The year's biggest flurry of primary elections hits eight states Tuesday when voters choose nominees to succeed retiring governors in California and New Mexico and a U.S. senator in Iowa.

Also at stake are nominations for senator and governor in South Dakota, a Senate seat in California, the governorship of Iowa and 76 U.S. House seats in the eight states. Forty-three of the House seats are in California.

Eighteen Democrats and six Republicans want to succeed GOP Gov. Ronald Reagan, who is stepping down after two terms and preparing for a possible White House bid in 1976.

Public opinion polls indicated the clear front-runners were Democrat Edmund G. Brown Jr., 36, son of the governor that Reagan defeated in 1966, and Republican Houston I. Flournoy, 44, California state controller. Brown is California secretary of state.

In New Mexico, six Democrats and four Republicans are bidding for nominations to succeed Democratic Gov. Bruce King, who cannot succeed himself.

Iowa Democrat Harold E. Hughes is vacating his U.S. Senate seat, abandoning politics to become a religious lay leader.

Democratic Rep. John C. Culver is unopposed for the nomination for Hughes' seat. State Sen. George Milligan and State Rep.David Stanely, who lost to Hughes six years ago, are in the GOP primary.

Republican Gov. Robert D. Ray of Iowa is unopposed in his party renomination bid. There are three Democratic candidates.

In South Dakota, Gov. Richard F. Kneip's bid for a third term is challenged in the Democratic primary by Lt. Gov. William Dougherty, his running mate in the past two campaigns.

Democratic Sen. George McGovern is unopposed for his party' renomination, while three Republicans compete to battle him in the general election, including retired Air Force Col. Leo K. Thorsness, who spent six years in a North Vietnamese prison camp.

U.S. House nominations are at stake in New Jersey, Montana and Mississippi.

In California, Sen. Alan Cranston faced only token opposition from two other Democrats. There were five Republicans in the race including state Sen. H. L. Richardson and Earl Brian, former health and welfare secretary under Reagan.

The California election could provide a test of potential reaction to Watergate and related political scandals.

Since 1969 Republican Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke, 50, was considered the front-runner and apparent heir of Reagan's support for the gubernatorial nomination. But his support weakened and his campaign funds virtually dried up when he was indicted by a Watergate grand jury on three counts of lying to the Senate Judiciary Committee in 1972.

Californians also will decide a major political reform measure put on the ballot by petition campaign in reaction to Watergate.

Students can apply for education grants

WASHINGTON, D.C. --Students who need money for their education after high school may now apply for Basic Educational Opportunity Grants for the 1974 -75 academic year.

The $475 million available is expected to provide grants ranging from $50 to about $800 with an average of about $475.

Although limited this year to full -time students who began their post -secondary education after April 1, 1973, the program is expected to benefit an estimated one million students who might otherwise be unable to continue their education. Along with other Federal programs of student financial aid, the Basic Grant Program marks significant progress toward the Administration's ultimate goal of making postsecondary education available to all young people who desire it.

Under the Basic Grant Program, students in financial need may obtain funds to help pay their educational expenses at any approved college, university, vocational school, technical institute, or hospital school of nursing. The amount for which a student is eligible is based on a formula annually developed by the U.S. Office of Education.

To apply for a Basic Grant, an "Application of Determination of Basic Grant Eligibility" must be obtained, filled out, and mailed to BEOG, P.O. Box 2264, Washington, D.C. 20013. Within a month the student is notified of the amount of his eligibility index. He then submits this notification to the school of his choice, which calculates the amount of the Basic Grant to which he is entitled.

Application forms are now available at student financial aid offices at postsecondary institutions, high school guidance offices, Talent Search, Upward Bound, Student Special Services projects, and public libraries. If unavailable in your ares, write to BEOG, P.O. Box 84, Washington, D.C. 20044.

Other forms of Federal student assistance such as Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants, College Work -Study, National Direct Student Loans, and Guaranteed Student Loans may be available in addition to basic grants.

For further information on basic grants and other student financial aid programs, students should contact their high school counselor or the financial aid officer at the school in which they are enrolled or expect to enroll.

Council to hear report

The City Council is expected to hear a report on a study of the See-Mor Cable TV rate increase request when it meets at 7:30 p.m. today.

The report is being made by a committee of three councilmen and Acting City Manager Bill Whitlock, who were appointed at the council's last meeting to study a certified audit of the cable TV company's financial status and make a recommendation on the request.

See-Mor is asking for a monthly increase of 50 cents.

Also on the agenda is a legal opinion from City Attorney Manuel Drumm on municipal contributions to non- city welfare groups.

Other items to be considered include additions to the lease with the Chamber of Commerce for their building at the airport; rezoning of lot 8, block two of the Dement and Ziegenhorn subdivision, and bids for a new truck for the humane officer.

World news in brief

JERUSALEM (AP) — Yitzhak Rabin's new cabinet takes over Israel's government today. The central committee of Israel's ruling Labor party unanimously approved Rabin's cabinet lineup Sunday, and the new government was slated to receive the endorsement today of the Knesset, the Israeli parliament. The final meeting of Premier Golda Meir's cabinet Sunday marked the departure from the government of four longdominant members of the Israeli Establishment: Mrs. Meir, Defense Minister Moshe Dayan, Foreign Minister Abba Eban and Finance Minister Pinhas Sapir.

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — Syrian and Israeli generals reported "considerable progress" Sunday in their talks to arrange a timetable for the troop disengagement negotiated by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger. "Progress was also made in discussing other collateral matters," said a communique issued by Gen. Herzl Shafir of Israel and Gen. Adnan Tayara of Syria. The Kissinger agreement calls for them to complete their work by Wednesday.

LONDON (AP) — The British Parliament interrupted its spring vacation today for an emergency debate on the future of Northern Ireland amid growing sentiment for British withdrawal from the province after nearly five years of bloodshed. Prime Minister Harold Wilson called Parliament back into session after the collapse of attempts to govern Northern Ireland by a coalition of moderate Protestants and Catholics. The coalition government resigned and the British government resumed direct rule of the province after a 15-day general strike led by militant Protestants opposed to sharing power with the Catholics.

FLIXBOROUGH, England (AP) — The British government today ordered a major inquiry into the Nypro chemical plant explosion Saturday that killed 29 persons and injured 105, according to latest official reports. All the reported dead were workers at the factory in rural eastern England, but most injured were civilians living in the neighboring countryside. About 100 homes in nearby villages were ruined.

FAIRFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Kenneth Kays is not your government-issue hero. His victory garden is full of marijuana, and he is determined to keep it as a symbol of his freedom. Kays, 24, won the Medal of Honor and was honored at the White House for his heroism in Vietnam.

A draft resister-turned-medic, Kays lost a leg in battle in May 1970 but repeatedly crawled past his lines to rescue and treat wounded comrades. Today he is battling over a 1,000 square-foot patch near his trailer in this southern Illinois town where he farms the illegal marijuana plants for his own personal use. Kays has been arrested twice and convicted once for possession and cultivation of marijuana.

He was sentenced to one year of probation. Two weeks after his first arrest, the sheriff discovered Kays was still growing marijuana and arrested him again. "I don't wish to fight, but I'm not going to quit," he said.

"If you had gotten me started at this when I was younger, Daddy, I'd be REALLY good by now."

Today in U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, June 3, the 154th day of 1974. There are 211 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date:

In 1621, the Dutch West India Company received a charter for New Netherlands — now New York.

In 1808, Confederate President Jefferson Davis was born in what is now Todd County, Ky.

In 1937, the Duke of Windsor married Wallis Warfield Simpson of Baltimore, Md., in France.

In 1942, in World War II, Japanese warplanes raided Dutch Harbor, Alaska.

In 1962, 30 members of an Atlanta, Ga., art group were killed in an airliner crash at Paris, France.

In 1966, a surveyor one spacecraft was relaying back pictures of the Lunar surface after making America's first soft landing on the moon.

Ten years ago: President Lyndon Johnson described American military might as awesome, saying it exceeded the combined might of all the nations in world history.

Five years ago: President Nixon denounced what he called the self-righteous moral arrogance of college extremists but urged the nation to heed the demands of the young for honesty in American life.

One year ago: a Soviet supersonic airliner crashed during an international air show near Paris, killing the six crewmen and seven French villagers.

Today's birthdays: Actor Tony Curtis is 49 years old. Poet Allen Ginsberg is 48.

Thought for today: A prophet is not without honor, save in his own country, and in his own house — the Bible.

SECOND FLOOR PLAN

HA811P

THIS TWO-BEDROOM HIDEAWAY has a living room, kitchen and screened porch, including a bathroom and utility room, to total 1,170 square feet. An upstairs studio which can be used as a bedroom plus large storage area and ground-level deck complete the ensemble. Through the recessed front entry to the central foyer and to the left is visible the dramatic living room with cathedral ceiling and stone fireplace flanked by two windows. A spiral staircase leads to the second floor studio. The utility room next to the bathroom provides for necessary heating equipment. Plan HA811P is a home for all seasons. Architect Samuel Paul, 107-40 Queens Blvd., Forest Hills, N.Y. 11375, will answer queries about the price of the blueprint, if the writer encloses a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Fourth Time Charm for Riders

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Drummer Spencer Dryden, formerly of the Jefferson Airplane, now of the New Riders of the Purple Sage, says, "Well, the Grateful Dead made their mark without cracking the singles market. We did it without touching the record market."

He said that just as "The Adventures of Panama Red," the fourth LP by the New Riders of the Purple Sage, came out and now it isn't true any more. This LP is selling, up to No. 32 on the Dec. 8 best-selling chart and climbing. However, the group still hasn't cracked the singles market.

Previous LPs on Columbia have been "The New Riders of the Purple Sage," "Powerglide" and "Gypsy Cowboy." The group had hopes for the singles "L.A. Lady" and "Groupie," but they didn't happen.

The Riders of the Purple Sage, says John Collins Dawson IV, known as Marmaduke, lead vocalist and rhythm guitarist, "were like the Sons of the Pioneers, smooth country, sleepy harmonies, acoustic, songs like 'Cool Water' and 'Casey Jones.' Twenty-nine part harmony."

The New Riders of the Purple Sage, which got together in 1969, was more country at first than now. There are rock 'n' roll songs now, lead singing usually done for those by Dave Torbert, bassist. Dave Nelson plays lead guitar.

The New York Times called the music at a concert this fall "tripping cowboy rock, friendly and innocent in its sentiments." Dawson says, "Most of our country tunes are of fairly recent origin, like "Truck-Driving Man" and "Six Days on the Road."

At first, Jerry Garcia from the Grateful Dead played pedal steel guitar. Dawson says, "Jerry Garcia joins splinter groups a lot. Basically what he does is pick.

"We met Buddy Cage on a train ride across Canada in 1970. He was in Great Speckled Bird at that time. Later we were able to drag him out of Canada. His pedal steel is much more primo than Jerry's is going to be for a while yet."

Cage is the most recent member of the quintet, joining in November 1971. Dawson says, "It is still growing but it is more together now. Before it had Mikey Hart, the drummer from the Dead. It had a part-time orientation on the part of a lot of the folks.

"Jerry Garcia played with us in the function of a banjoist and he learned pedal steel guitar. He definitely brings an aura with him that is nice to have with you on the stage. And we got a lot of exposure, going around as opening act for the Dead."

Dawson tells about the group's first work. "We walked into this club in Cotati, Calif., in wine country, and told the man we had a band and we want a job. He said, 'I don't want any of this noisy rock 'n' roll in this place, man.' We told him we went in for acoustic. "We told him it wasn't loud, nasty rock 'n' roll. We had 'The Eagle Song" a nice, slow, laid-back tune. We played tunes I was making up at the time and our favorites off the radio, 'Quinn the Eskimo' and 'Honky Tonk Women.' We got the gig there the next weekend. Sonoma State College students came in."

The group has been touring for three years and they've been having trouble with timing. They'll arrive to play at a college on a Friday when school was adjourned Thursday, be out on the road when there's no record to plug or have a record and not be plugging it. They hope to straighten that out.

Also, on the new album, Norbert Putnam produced. Dawson says, "We'd tried to produce them all ourselves before. They weren't coming up stuff that seemed like top 40 stations were playing them. A producer helps you thin your stuff down to the essence of it and puts a consistent idea to recording and mixing of a record.

"We dragged Norbert out of Nashville. We couldn't afford to go, the mob of us, and stay in a hotel there. We could afford to ask him to come out. Maybe if we can break into a new level, we'll go there and do it the next time. It'd be more fun, five people hanging out for two weeks.

"He took the tapes back to Nashville and put an all-girl chorus on it and got the Memphis Horns to come down. They won't quit, man; they came in and socked it to some tracks."

Dryden says, "We do a couple of songs by Peter Rowan, who used to be with Earth Opera. We did a couple of jobs with them in the Northwest and California. Both songs flashed us. We asked Peter if we could use them and he said yes. We brought them out first; his version will probably come out this coming year. We came out with the cover version before the original."

Flash is a favorite word for this group. They were flashed by "Driftaway," a record by Dobie Gray. They are flashed by Commander Cody and the Lost Planet Airmen, with whom they have played a number of gigs lately.

Cage says, "The secret to success is playing a bill with Cody. They play first and they play tight. You have to play good. Torbert adds, "They're a laugh riot. They're enjoyable; you have a superior good time with them."

Dryden says, "I left the Airplane in May 1970. I quit music altogether. I bought a boat; I'd love to sell it. I joined this bunch in December 1970. This is different but it is getting crazy again. People are coming around, dealing cocaine. The bigger it gets, the more pressure you have on you to go on and do more things. The last record didn't sell so much, so we've got to make the next one sell. There's pressure to write songs."

For Buddy Cage success means something else. "Did you know 'Summer Breeze' by Seals and Crofts was started on its way up by a guy in a Boston radio station programming it? They only introduce three records to the playlist every week and 200 records come out — to be one of those three! Far out. It's pretty well sewed up with people who've already been there. It's like the rich get richer.

"I was coming from Eugene, Ore., to Los Angeles and on the AM radio I heard one of our songs. The whole dream of the kid who's been listening to the radio all his life. Bugging down your road in your el caro. 'Yes, sir, that was the New Riders.' It is a flash. Definitely a flash."

There's no pride to match that of a young man proudly displaying the product of "his very own" first gardening effort. Thanks to pelletized "Sow-Easy" seed, the youngest gardener can honestly claim full credit for his product, from shovel to salad. Admittedly, with a 1.5 pound Giant Beefsteak tomato in hand, it is rather difficult for father to tease, "Are you gonna grow some big ones next year?"

Demo finance plan has 1,185 members

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The "Committee of 10,000" financing plan of the Missouri Democratic Party now has 1,185 paid-up members, state party officials say.

A financial report at Saturday's state meeting, called to approve a delegate selection plan for the Dec. 6-8 national mid-term convention in Kansas City, showed the state party has cut its debt from the 1972 elections to $29,500.

The debt originally was about $60,000.

The committee of 10,000, proposed by state Treasurer James I. Spainhower, has contributed $41,981 in the past year. More than $4,000 has been distributed to county and ward committees and the rest has gone to pay off debts and operating expenses.

The $1,000-a-year "Mule Skinners" club, with 26 paid-up members, has contributed $22,566, the committee's financial statement said.

The $10-a-year "regular members," with 1,038 members, have paid $10,385.

The $25-a-month "True Truman Democrats," 27 of them, have paid $4,400. The 36 $10-amonth "Grass Rooters" have paid $2,240. And 58 of the $5-amonth "sustaining members" have paid $2,390.

In other action, Jefferson City lawyer Richard Nacy was approved as the new executive director of the central office, replacing Will Davis.

State Rep. Richard Rabbitt, D-St. Louis, passed out green "Run Rabbitt '76" buttons. Rabbitt said several months ago at the Springfield Jackson days event that he is considering running for the lieutenant governor's office in 1976.

Secretary of State James C. Kirkpatrick announced that two-thirds of all eligible voters in the state now are registered. The last day to register under Missouri's new statewide voter registration law is July 10.

CARUTHERSVILLE --For the second time in recent months, Delta Area Economic Opportunity Corporation has aided Mexican -American migrant farm workers involved in tragic accidents on Southeast Missouri highways.

At about 4:20 a.m. May 27 morning, approximately seven miles south of Hayti, 15 migrant farm laborers were traveling north on Highway 55, enroute to Vincennes, Ind. to harvest vegetables, when the truck they were riding in was struck head -on by a car. Four people in the car were killed and five of the people in the truck were hospitalized. The truck driver, was transferred to a Memphis hospital in critical condition.

Dutton Brookfield, Kansas City civic and business leader, addressed a luncheon meeting of the survey's trustees and guests.

The Survey is a non -partisan governmental research organization, with offices in Jefferson City. At the meeting, the board formulated the Survey's program for the coming operational year.

The Survey has been active in bringing about state reorganization. It has helped bring about numerous other governmental improvements, including modern state budgeting and a state records management system.

Auction funds to restore home

JACKSON --The Jackson Community Betterment Association has scheduled an auction beginning at 10 a.m. Saturday to raise funds to complete restoration of a historic old home --the Oliver House. Robert Burett Oliver, for whom the house is named, was a force in southeast Missouri business and politics during the early part of this century and the latter part of last century.

The sale will be held in the high school stadium and gymnasium with four auctioneers outside and rummage sale inside. The association hopes to raise $25,000.

Included in the sale will be donated items, ranging from antiques to a large number of business donations.

In the antique section, items will range from a Jenny Lind bed to old quilts and wicker furniture. Other donations include collectors items from politicians, entertainers and athletes.

Items from business firms and manufacturers are all new merchandise or services, some with values in the hundreds of dollars, that will go to the highest bidder. The miscellaneous category includes items from used cars to live pigs, from furniture to kitchen appliances, and from handmade afghans to arts and crafts.

Everything for this fund raising sale has been donated, either by individuals or businesses. Even the proceeds from lunch on the grounds, which will be provided by two civic clubs, will go to the project. The auctioneers are donating their services. Most every Jackson club or organization has had some part in the planning and carrying out of the auction.

Mrs. D. Warren Salzmann, general chairman said the sale is going to be something to see for others in the southeast Missouri region --whether they come to catch a bargain in the bidding or simply to observe how their community might support a pet project. Officials from the auction committee will be available to answer any questions about the project.

What's the law?

The case of the tricky hunter

By JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

Marvin bought a hunting lodge which he immediately insured against fire. He had his own idea, however, how to protect it against burglary. He hung up a sign outside the lodge that warned "Beware of trap guns inside lodge."

Actually, tricky Marvin didn't even have a firecracker in the building, no less a trap gun. The sign was merely a psychological hoax to keep intruders away. But, when the lodge subsequently caught fire, the local firefighters exhibited no intention of questioning the veracity of the sign and permitted the lodge to burn to the ground.

Thus, when Marvin later attempted to collect for his loss under his fire insurance policy, he was turned down cold.

"You've got to be joking in asking us to pay you," he was told. "You scared the firemen away with your sign. If it hadn't been for that sign, your lodge might have been saved."

"Baloney," was Marvin's irate answer. "The sign was intended to keep out burglars and not firemen. Besides, the existence or nonexistence of the sign has nothing to do with my claims. Upon the happening of a fire, my policy says I'm to be paid. Consequently, I'm entitled to be paid."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit tricky Marvin to collect for the fire?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that the insurance company had not agreed to insure a building where the owner would prevent firemen from extinguishing a fire. And, noted the judge, by putting up the "beware" sign, Marvin had deterred the firefighters from entering the lodge as effectively as if he had stationed armed guards at the door.

(Based upon a 1960 United States District Court decision.)

Highlights and sidelights

Governor signs repeal tax on household goods

JEFFERSON CITY --This is the last year Missourians will be able not to declare great -grandma's Chippendale chairs, $5,000 mink coat and the $10,000 diamond ring on their personal property tax statements. After January 1, they won't be taxable anyway.

Legislation abolishing the state's personal tax on furniture and other household goods, clothing and jewelry was signed into law last week by Gov. Christopher S. Bond.

The repeal was mandated in a constitutional amendment approved by voters in November, 1972, and passed the legislative sessions that ended April 30.

The tax had been criticized because it was difficult to enforce and, as a result, inequitably enforced.

Its repeal will mean the loss of an estimated $14 million in revenues to school districts and other local governmental units. However, Bond predicted that stronger new tax collection laws will offset much of the lost revenue.

A measure requiring personal property tax receipts to list the number of vehicles on which personal property taxes are paid is expected to produce an additional $12 million in tax revenues, according to the governor.

A loophole in the present law has allowed motorists to obtain license plates for several vehicles with a personal property tax receipt for taxes paid on only one.

Provisions to reimburse local governments for lost revenues were included in the repeal bill adopted by the legislature, but Bond said he would not include any money for such reimbursements in his budget.

"To appropriate approximately $14 million to local governments from already scarce state resources would insure a statewide tax increase by 1976," Bond said.

In a separate action last week, Gov. Bond moved to make Robert L. James his Commissioner of Administration in name as well as deed.

The governor annnounced James' appointment to the post effective June 1.

James has served as acting head of the Office of Administration for the past year and a half, but carried the title of assistant to the governor for administration.

Bond first appointed James to the post in January, 1973, but the appointment was later withdrawn when questions were raised as to whether he met the five -year residency requirement for the office.

A native of Webb City, James had attended college out of state. He received a bachelor of science degree in business administration from the University of Tulsa in 1962 and a master's degree in business administration from the University of Arkansas in 1964. He then taught at the University of Tulsa before returning to Missouri in 1969 to join a Joplin accounting firm.

James worked for the Joplin firm for nearly two years before becoming a deputy state auditor under the state autitor Christopher S. Bond.

"By June of this year, he will have been a bona fide resident of Missouri consistently for more than five years," Bond said of James in his announcement. "The technical objections to his appointment is removed."

James' appointment is subject to Senate confirmation.

The state Department of Revenue has found itself in the awkward position of trying to give money away instead of collect it.

Revenue Department officials say they have approximately $50,000 in refunds for 1971 they haven't been able to return because they can't locate the more than 2,000 taxpayers due the money. Address changes or illegible addresses on the tax forms are blamed on the problem.

If not claimed by the end of the year, the money will revert to the state treasurey.

State Demos OK convention delegate plan

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Missouri's state Democratic Central Committee has approved a plan to select 53 delegates and 12 alternates for the national Democratic party's Dec. 6-8 mid-term convention in Kansas City.

The committee voted, 35-0, at the end of a five-hour meeting here Saturday, to toss out a provision in the delegate selection plan for proportional representation by special interest groups in the delegate selection meetings.

Under the plan, designed to allow women and minority group members to select their own delegates, a group comprising 20 per cent of the participants in a delegate selection meeting could hold its own caucus and elect delegates with voting power commensurate to its strength at the meeting.

Hilda Newman of Kansas City moved to strike the section. Joseph P. Roddy of St. Louis, holding seven proxies from the 3rd District in St. Louis and the 10th Congressional District of southeast Missouri, cast all seven against the proportional representation plan.

Opponents of the proposal, including former Gov. Warren E. Hearnes—who did not attend the meeting—object in part because the percentage of strength might not divide evenly into the number of delegates to be selected from a particular meeting.

Eleven of the 53 delegates will be the nine Democratic U.S. representatives and two U.S. senators. Eight will be selected by the state Democratic Committee Sept. 10.

That leaves 34 to be selected from the 10 congressional districts in caucuses to be held Aug. 27. Mass meetings of ward and county Democratic groups Aug. 20 will select the delegates to the district caucuses. The 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 5th districts will have four delegates each to Kansas City and the rest will have three each.

The national committee rejected Missouri's first delegate selection plan, which would have allowed members of congressional district committees to pick 34 of the delegates rather than having the 34 picked by persons elected at the various county, ward and township meetings.

State Sen. Raymond Howard, D-St. Louis, attempted to change the selection formula but withdrew his motions after it was point out that the national committee had stipulated certain selection guidelines.

Howard said the 1st District should have five delegates because of its higher Democratic vote total in 1972. He also said blacks and women would have better representation under his proposal. And he objected to having the state Central Committee select eight delegates. Because 11 congressmen already are selected, he said, the people only get to vote on 65 per cent of Missouri's delegates to the Kansas City convention.

The National Democratic Committee put no quota system on blacks or women. The formula includes the total population in each congressional district and the percentage of votes cast in 1972 for the Democratic presidential candidate from each district.

3 burglary suspects sought

A ringing bell apparently scared burglars away from Shy's Drug Store in the Midtowner Village Shopping Center sometime Sunday. In their haste to escape they left behind $400 in stamps they had stuffed into a paper bag.

David Shy, owner of the store, said he discovered the break-in about 9:40 p.m. Shy said he thought the thieves were scared away by a ringing bell from the drive-in window.

The burglars had managed to open the safe in Shy's office, but did not get in the drug cabinet.

Entry to the store was gained by breaking out a lock in the front door, Shy said.

The burglars had stuffed $400 in stamps into a paper bag and put it behind a counter, where the stamps were found this morning.

Police are looking for three men in a cream or white-colored car believed involved in the burglary and in another burglary in Cape Girardeau.

A large amount of controlled drugs were found missing at 2:40 a.m. today from Finney's Drug Store, 709 Broadway Ave., Cape Girardeau.

The theft was discovered by a police officer who found the back door of the store open. An inventory was being completed this morning.

A third burglary was attempted sometime Sunday at McPheeter's Clinic in Poplar Bluff. The thieves entered the building but failed to get into the pharmacy.

It wasn't known this morning if there was a connection between the Poplar Bluff break-in and the ones in Sikeston and Cape Girardeau.

The cream or white-colored car was reportedly spotted in Stoddard County at 2:35 a.m. today.

Thieves ripped two coin boxes from the wall of the Kerr-McGee Car Wash on Murray Lane between 5 p.m. Saturday and 7:23 a.m.

Born Aug. 27, 1935 in Bloomfield, Miss Bolin was a machine operator at Elder Manufacturing Co. in Dexter.

Surviving are her father, Albert J. Bolin of Bloomfield; one brother, Scott Bolin of Bloomfield; and one sister, Mrs. Alberta Nichols of Bloomfield.

Services were conducted at 2 p.m. today at Chiles-Cooper Funeral Home with the Rev. Orville Meyers of Idalia officiating.

Burial was in Bloomfield Cemeterv.

The pair were two of the first customers this morning at the new Sikeston branch office of the Social Security Administration. 13 hurt in SeMo accidents

Thirteen persons were injured, one seriously, in eight traffic accidents in the Bootheel area over the weekend, according to the highway patrol.

Cynthia Bradlo, 17, of Poplar Bluff was seriously injured at 9:05 p.m. Sunday on Route T nine miles northeast of Poplar Bluff when the car in which she was riding ran off the road at an excessive rate of speed. The patrol said the car, driven by Michael Nelson Graham, 21, of Poplar Bluff ran off the wrong side of the road, through a fence and overturned three times before coming to rest on its wheels in a field.

Graham and another passenger, William E. Webb, 18, of Poplar Bluff, received minor injures. All were taken to Doctors Hospital in Poplar Bluff.

Two persons were injured at 12:30 a.m. Saturday on Route HH two and a half miles west of Piedmont in an accident involving three vehicles.

The accident occurrred when a car driven south by Rebecca Sue Lorch, 32, of Piedmont was turning left into a private drive and swerved to avoid striking a car parked partially in the drive. The parked car was occupied by Michael E. Shepherd, 18, of Piedmont.

A third car driven east by Wayne Stanley Pichon, 23, of Piedmont, topped a hillcrest and struck the Lorch auto in the side, knocking it into the Shepherd auto.

Pichon and Mrs. Lorch received monor injuries but were not hospitalized.

An accident at 1:45 p.m. Saturday 16 miles south of Fredericktown on Highway 67 resulted in two injuries.

According to the patrol, a northbound car driven by Donald Albert Straussner, 35, of St. Louis crossed the center line and collided with a southbound car driven by David A. Duckett, 35, of Florissant. Duckett drove to the shoulder to avoid the accident.

Straussner received a broken hip and his son, Timothy L. Straussner, 6, of St. Louis suffered facial cuts. Both were taken to Madison County Memorial Hospital in Fredericktown.

Two cars collided at 5:30 p.m. Saturday when they met on a blind curve on a gravel road one-half mile west of Perryville.

4 hurt in local collision

Four people were injured in a two-car accident at 10 p.m. Sunday at the intersection of South Main Street and South Kingshighway.

All the injured were passengers in a car driven by Patricia Lou Ross, 32, of 112 Cardinal Drive.

Police said Mrs. Ross was southbound on Main St. when a northbound car driven by Gerald Ingram, 46, of Route Two, pulled in front of her while attempting a left turn onto South Kingshighway.

The Ross vehicle struck Ingram's car in the passenger side.

Treated at Missouri Delta Community Hospital for injuries received in the accident were: Mrs. Ross, bruises of skull and left arm; her two daughters, Lisa ,9, scratches left elbow, and Patricia, 14, sprained lower back; and Frances Maccune, 23 of 342 Magnolia Drive, bruised left shoulder.

Ingram and a passenger in his car, Lena Landers, 223 William St. were uninjured.

Police said Ingram was arrested for careless and imprudent driving and improper registration.

THE BARBARIANS AMONG US

Our modern vandals are giving the original Vandals a bad name.

The tribes who sacked Rome in the fifth century presumably didn't know any better when they destroyed so much of that city's art and literature and momuments. What excuse is there for those whose dismal handiwork is found in every city, in every public park, in every historical place that is not constantly guarded?

In New York, the Bronx Society of Arts and Sciences has asked the city's parks department to bar the public from the cottage in which Edgar Allan Poe lived in the 1840s and where he wrote some of his memorable poems. The cottage has been a continual target of vandals, who have not only stolen numerous Poe mementoes but have tried to set the building on fire from time to time.

South of the Bronx, in New York's Central Park, it's said that there is not a statue or monument that has not been covered with spray- painted grafitti.

The problem is hardly unique to New York. At a high school in Lakewood, Ohio, the other day, the famed Cleveland orchestra was forced to cut short a concert because it was bombarded with slingshot- fired paper clips from the student audience. It was the second time this had happened and each time it was a case of the ignorant, undisciplined few spoiling something for the many — as it is everywhere vandals strike.

Society today is not only being held hostage by the pollitical terrorists who kidnap and bomb and extort. More and more, the great mass of decent, law- abiding citizens, along with the cultural artifacts that are the visible heritage of civilization, are at the mercy of the barbarians among us who deface, destroy, wreck and ruin.

This is almost too good to be true. National Review has nominated Miss Janiece Crimmins as the Legislator of Our Times. Miss Crimmins, now in her second term in the Indiana General Assembly, is the only member of 150 in that body who did not introduce any legislation this session. She did not introduce a bill last session, either. "People kid me and say I'm not doing my job," she says. "But I see no reason to dream up some new law just to appear busy. Most new laws are either going to cost someone money or take away someone's liberties. We're overregulating, over- protecting, and overdirecting the people. I think people resent being told how and when and where to do everything. Passing 300 new laws a year is now what they want." Miss Crimmins says that if she ever does introduce a bill, it might be on to limit legislators to only one bill per session.

BARRON'S, Business & Financial Weekly notes, "DDT, ruled the EPA, may be used by the U. S. Forest Service to control tussock moth infestations on some 650,000 acres of public forest land in Washington, Oregon and Idaho, in case of an 'emergency' -- which EPA hopes will not arise. However, EPA boss Russell E. Train admits that there is 'no assurance that the epidemic won't continue or, in fact, increase in the coming season.' EPA 'experts' erred last year, when they confidently expected the plague to subside ... Having helped devastate the environment, Mr. Train promptly attacked the Forest Service for 'almost totally inadequate' research efforts into alternative tussock moth controls. Private owners of timberland, as well as national parks, still are barred from protecting their trees with DDT."

We have to do something to help these towns and numbers of them can be helped by small industries. FOR FREE MEN ONLY

As the nation prepares to observe Freedom of the Press Day on June 7, it is fitting to consider what freedom of the press means to U.S. citizens in the crucible of the nuclear age. Freedom of the press allows an honest evaluation of the President's efforts to achieve peace and a "working arrangement" with former communist enemies. Although sometimes harsh in its approach, the free press permits every citizen to make an unvarnished assessment of political candidates. It probes the motives and principles of public figures who enjoy positions of leadership. The free press is the only genuine disciplinary force that can be exerted against government. It is the articulate focal point of public opinion.

A free press is literally the watchdog of a free people. At times wrong conclusions are drawn from what the press reveals, but over the long pull, its batting average is good. If every nation enjoyed the vision that is given by a free press to the people of the U.S., the cause of world peace would be immeasurably brighter. The purpose of Freedom of the Press Day is "To celebrate and promote press freedom in the Americas." In observing the Day, we should remember that it is an occasion for free men only.

DREAM-WORLD LOGIC

Environmentalists, editorial writers and the general public seem to have become submerged in a dream world with regard to such things as electric power projects. Their sole interest, apparently, is how the environment will be affected rather than how people are going to live. The psychological approach is that of a man who worries more about the smoke from his campfire on a sub- zero night than about how to keep from freezing to death. Late figures form the Edison Electric Institute show that approximately 1.6 million new customers were served by the electric industry in 1971 and that more tha 90 percent of the new customers were residential. What are these people supposed to do -- freeze in the night?

So far, the country has been able to tolerate the kind of one- sided environmentalism that shuts its eyes to the laws of survival. It has been able to do this for the simple reason that the electric utility industry has managed to keep energy flowing to homes, businesses and farms with little interruption -- so far. In spite of handicaps, it has even managed to increase generating capacity. Again, according to figures from the Edison Electric Institute, the generating capacity of the electric utility industry in the 48 contiguous states at the end of 1971 was an estimated 370.5 million kilowatts, representing a 9.3 percent increase over the 1970 total of 339.1 million kilowatts.

What the dream- world environmentalists fail to realize is that these hundreds of millions of kilowatts not only sustain life, but also provide a major part of the answer to pollution problems. In simplest terms, they have yet to acknowledge that a campfire produces needed heat as well as smoke, or that modern power plants produce very little in the way of smoke, stack emissions or pollution of any kind.

U. S. STEEL CUTS DOWN ITS ENERGY COMSUMPTION

"We have the capability today to produce a ton of finished steel with almost 15 per cent less energy than was required a decade agao," E. B. Speer, chairman of United States Steel Corp., said.

Speaking to the Commissioners of Alleghany County (Penna.) he commended them for their decisive action providing industry with flexibility to use substitute fuels during the energy shortage.

"More than two-thirds of U. S. Steel's energy supply is obtained from metallurgical coal, coke, blast furnace gas, coke oven gas and from by- products derived from the coking process - oils and tars," he explained.

Most of the goal the company uses comes from its own mines. While most of the energy requirement is produced "in house," the various other forms of energy required are not interchanable. U.S. Steel, therefore, cannot operate without adequate natural gas, oil and electricity which is purchased from outside sources.

"One long- range program is aimed at the development of a process that can convert previously unusable coals having high sulfur and ash content to usable coke," Mr. Speer revealed. "The U. S. Government Office of Coal Research has awarded U. S. Steel a contract for further intensive work in this clean coke program," he said.

"U. S. Steel is also working on a process to produce a clean, low BTU fuel gas by gasification of coal. The clean fuel gas could be used as a replacement for gaseous and liquid fuels or it could be used to generate electricity, replacing conventional direct burning of coal in power- generating plants," he said.

Mr. Speer cited another research program which is aimed at annually recoving some 60,000 tons of ultra- fine coal from current waste and injecting it as a coal - oil slurry into blast furnaces to replace part of the oil currently being injected.

He noted that the electrical system is programmed to economize on electricity to the extent that it takes into account the heat generated by the lighting fixtures, the sun on the building's facade and even the collective body heat of the people who work there.

CHALK UP ANOTHER CRIME AGAINST NATURE

The controversy over the trans- Alaska oil pipeline never lacked for headlines. A similar battle of even longer duration over a U. S. Corps of Engineers plans to build a dam in Missouri's Meramec River basic has gone relatively unreported around the country.

On the drawing boards since the late 1930s and finally authorized in 1966, the $93- million dam would be situated about 75 miles southwest of St. Louis.

A 1,000- page environmental impact study prepared by the Corps holds that the benefits of the dam would include not only water recreation and economic opportunity for the area, but a water supply to meet the future needs of metropolitan St. Louis and supplemental stream flow during dry spells.

Ecologists and conservationists claim that the dam would flood some 50 miles of free- flowing streams and 12,600 acres of largely wild woodland inhabited by already endangered species of animals, as well as submerge about 100 caves. The Meramec Valley has the highest known cave density of any river system in the world.

One of them is Onondaga Cave, whose owner, Lester B. Dill, calls the proposed project "a crime against Mother Nature" worse than anything ever perpetrated by the Jesse James gang, which reportedly used to hide out in the area.

The St. Louis Coalition for the Environment and other groups challenge the recreational value of the lake that would be created by the dam, and also question whether the federal government should spend money to foster motor- boating in view of the energy crisis. The Ozark Chapter of the ever- alert Sierra Club has filed suit in U. S. District Court to block the project.

The Corps of Engineers has locked horns not only with the environmentalists but with the U. S. Department of the Interior as well which also is against the project, claiming that the government could purchase the entire flood plain downstream from the dam for half what the dam would cost.

Few Americans will ever set foot in Alaska's wilderness, and the ecological disturbance caused by the pipeline will be minimal and will be vastly offset by its economic benefits.

Many thousands of Americans visit the scenic Meramec Valley every year, yet somehow the fight for its preservation has captured little national attention.

PRICE AND WAGE CONTROLS REJECTED AT LAST

The Senate has wisely defeated legislation to continue federal authority to impose wage and price controls. Constructive Senators were supported by both business and organized labor in their defeat of continued controls.

During the Senate debate, Sen. William Brock of Tennessee pointed out what is wrong with controls on the economy: "Controls have resulted in incredible dislocation in the economy. They have created shortages, unemployment and loss of jobs and property without due process of law, without protection to the individual, the family, the company or anyone else."

Sen. Brock added that in the last year, working people "have lost almost 5 per cent of their real income, not as a result of lack of productivity, but because the government of this country imposed restrictions on the production of this country, impeded the processes of the market, and made it impossible for them to compete."

Sen. William Proxmire of Wisconsin, normally a left- sider, joined with those opposing controls. He said that the best way to fight inflation would be for the government to eliminate deficit spending. He urged drastic cuts in the President's proposed $300 billion budget. Price and wage controls, Proxmire added, serve to distract citizens' attention from the real causes of rising prices.

Later in the debate, Sen. Brock observed: "There is nothing about (controls) consistent with freedom. If we are going to face up to that, I think we had better get rid of controls, get rid of control of American business, and give it back to the people." The Senate wisely followed Brock's advice and deserves our thanks. HLH

Milk Money and Trucks: Impeachment Chief Rodino's Reelection Campaign Got Some Fine Contributions Itself

NEWARK, N.J. — There's something positively fascinating about Congressman Peter Wallace Rodino, Jr.'s passion for impeachment. His dedication to investigation is so sudden and out of character. As chairman of, and long a force in, the powerful House Judiciary Committee, Rodino never did appear to take as a personal insult the cruelest corruption, extortion, violence, rottenness and deep political muck which swirled through his and his neighboring congressional districts for decades.

It still does, In fact, one of his old friends and political collaborators in Congress, in the National Democratic Club of New Jersey, and here in Essex County, ex- Representative, ex- Newark Mayor Hugh Addonizio, is doing ten years for extortion and wholesale peddling of political influence.

Don't get me wrong. Peter Rodino is clean. He was a fine World War II soldier. He is devoted and decorated. But why the double standard? Why did his Judiciary Committee, with all its subcommittees on crime and the criminal justice system, ignore the fact that the report of the Governor's Select Commission on Civil Disorders, State of New Jersey (1968), said bluntly that under Addonizio "everything in city hall is for sale ... there is a price on everything."

Now, as the Talmudic students say, there are two ways to view this. One-- Rep. Rodino knew nothing of this vast corruption. This would hardly qualify him to direct the impeachment probe of President Nixon whom Rodino once said should be vetoed out of office.

Or, it can be said that Rodino is a man of compassion. Hugh Addonizio was his good friend. They both worked closely in the northern New Jersey Democratic party ranks in the organization's worst days -- the late '40s and '50s; they collaborated and socialized as Congressmen from adjoining districts. For, Addonizio represented the 11th C.D. from 1948 to 1962. Rodino, like Addonizio, was elected a Congressman in 1948 and still represents the 10th C.D. This includes Newark which Addonizio and his crime family friends looted.

Thus, it is possible that loyalty to a friend motivated Rodino and kept him comparatively silent on the truly brutal exploitation of the Addonizio- underworld mob of the citizenry of the scandal- ripped county.

Compassion is Congressman Rodino's sacred privilege. A double standard is not.

For example, there is the matter of political contributions. One record shows that Rodino once voted an increase of $2 billion in farm price supports. That was some time ago.

More recently the Special Political Agricultural Community Education (SPACE) Committee of Louisville, Ky., contributed $1,000 to a 1972 committee for the reelection of Peter Rodino. SPACE is the political arm of the Committee of Dairymen, Inc. This is a milk marketing cooperative. What intrigues me is that Louisville, Ky., is rather far to be considered a Newark suburb.

There also is a 1972 $1,000 contribution to Rodino from the Washington, D.C., Truck Operators Non- Partisan Committee. And another $1,000 from the Political Action Committee for Cable TV.

Agreed that $1,000 is somewhat less than $100,000 -- but then there is no such thing as being a little pregnant in politics as the late Lyndon Johnson used to say when he defined politics as the art of the possible.

There is, of course, the $28,923 contributed to Rodino's 1972 campaign by what Common Cause calls "labor group committees." Well, that's doing what comes naturally. Of this amount, some $3,000 came from the national COPE, the AFL-CIO's political arm.

Labor considers him a deserving friend of the people. They count his combined political record as having voted right 130 times and wrong twice. Consistent here, isn't he?

Nor has he let down the Americans for Democratic Action (ADA). The ADA considers he voted their brand of liberalism 92 per cent of the time. Consistent here too.

But his major inconsistency is obvious.

Well, let it not be said that he has ignored the major war on organized crime entirely. Most recently he has appealed to the Justice Department's Law Enforcement Assistance Administration to send along some funds for a probe in and around his district.

There is a joint city- county organized crime task force, run by some fine law- enforcement officials. It needs money to carry it through to Jan. 1. Congressman Rodino is helping.

He could help more. Under him, as chairman of the Judiciary Committee, are such subcommittees as Courts, Civil Liberties and the Administration of Justice; Crime; Criminal Justice; and Immigration, Citizenship and International Law. These committees would have a field day in many parts of New Jersey -- especially in Congressman Rodino's district, in which is Newark and its suburbs, long considered "the very heart of organized crime in New Jersey." Rodino might ask who said that.

One of his good friends did. So his passion for probing could be more bipartisan. And more productive in rooting out real crimes against the people -- some very poor people at that.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: Plea on the Potomac: 'Do Not Impeach Me!'

WASHINGTON --Over brandy and a cigar aboard the presidential yacht Sequoia, President Nixon appealed to a dozen conservative congressmen the other evening to take a stand on impeachment.

"If you believe I am innocent," he urged, "vote against impeachment in the House. Don't pass the buck to the Senate."

He reportedly fears many representatives may try to get off the hook by casting a procedural vote for impeachment. They could explain they didn't mean to judge the President but merely wanted to bring the case before the Senate for a decision.

This rationale could produce an overwhelming House vote in favor of impeachment. The psychological impact, he is said to feel, could influence senators to vote to remove him from office.

So as the Sequoia cruised down the rain -swept Potomac, the President asked his conservative House friends to settle the impeachment issue in the House.

He assured them that he has cooperated as far as he could with the House Judiciary Committee, which is inquiring into impeachment. He couldn't release tapes and documents, which might damage U.S. relations with other nations, he said.

He explained that he had had a number of private conversations with other heads of state. It would seriously violate international protocol, he said, if these conversations should be divulged.

The President's shipboard dinner companions were too polite to ask how these conversations could be compromised by release of the Watergate tapes. Presumably, he didn't discuss his Watergate woes with other world leaders.

The President, obviously cheered by the success of peace negotiaitons in the Middle East, was in a bantering, buoyant mood throughout the three -hour dinner cruise.

He joked with his guests about running Secretary of State Henry Kissinger for the Senate. Kissinger could be groomed for the seat of retiring Sen. Norris Cotton, R -N.H., and a bipartisan campaign could be organized to make Kissinger chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, the President speculated gleefully.

He suggested that the resourceful Kissinger, as a Senate chariman, might even be able to negotiate peaceful relations between the Senate and the White House.

The President gloated over the defeat of Sen. J. William Fulbright, D -Ark., which will remove him as Senate Foreign Relations chairman. As next in line, Sen. John Sparkman, D -Ala., would have to give up the Senate Banking Chairmanship to take over Fulbright's chair.

The President said he hoped Sparkman will choose the Foreign Relations chairmanship, which he has now said he will do. And this would make Sen. William Proxmire, D -Wis., the new Senate Banking chairman.

"Those bankers are beside themselves," chortled Nixon. "The bankers don't want Proxmire."

Speaking seriously, Nixon told his dinner guests that two days before the Syrian - Israeli truce, "I wouldn't have given a 50 -50 chance of an agreement."

He told of the dramatic cables Kissinger had sent from the Middle East. Turning to his staff chief Alexander Haig, the President cracked: "If those cables should be published, they would make quite a book, wouldn't they?"

He was optimistic about his forthcoming summit meeting with Leonid Brezhnev in Moscow. The President said he would have more flexibility to negotiate than would Brezhnev. The Soviet leader is far more subservient to the politburo, said Nixon, than most Americans realize.

On the other hand, he said, the Founding Fathers had given the American president more "maneuvering room" than other rulers possess.

Earlier in the evening, Rep. Gillespie Montgomery, D -Miss., asked Nixon magnanimously: "Mr. President, what can we do for you?"

The President responded to this offer by urging his conservative guests to support his veto of "irresponsible spending bills." Government spending was spurring inflation, he said, which could become the nation's biggest headache.

He also admonished them not to let the Pentagon sell them a military force superior to that of the Soviets. "All we need is to be equal," said the President, "don't you guys let the military push you into superiority."

Footnote: The Presidnet served Chateubriand, with mushrooms, peas and a spaghetti dish. He also passed out Sequoia matchbooks, which he autographed. This was the second time in two weeks that he has taken conservative congressmen on a dinner cruise as part of his effort to gain support against impeachment.

Governors claim states have leadership roles

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — The nation's governors open their annual meeting here today, saying they hope to avoid speculation about scandals in the nation's capital while claiming they are doing a better job of meeting the problems of the Watergate era.

Washington's Republican Gov. Daniel J. Evans, this year's conference chairman, told a news conference Sunday that in areas of campaign reform and government ethics, "states have quite clearly taken national leadership."

"In state after state significant sunshine laws, and other similar laws on ethics, on campaign limitations, on lobbyist reporting, open government have taken place while there has not been similar action as dramatic at the national level."

The opening day's business sessions included Evans' "State of the States" speech, a roundtable discussion with key congressional leaders of both parties and a panel on health care.

The health care seminar featured Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.; American Medical Association President Dr. Russell B. Roth; and Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Caspar Weinberger.

All but four of the nation's governors are expected to attend the formal opening of the conference today. Govs. John Burns of Hawaii, Bob Ray of Iowa, Francis Sargent of Massachusetts and George Wallace of Alabama have said they would not attend.

On Sunday, the conference's executive committee approved a broad resolution, sponsored by Govs. William G. Milliken, R-Mich., and Patrick J. Lucey, D-Wis., calling for reforms "at all levels of government."

The resolution, due for consideration by the full conference Wednesday, urges "loophole-free" campaign finance reforms in public campaign financing, strict ethics codes, wider disclosure of lobbying activities and greater openness in government.

Most of the questions at Evans' news conference and during an appearance of six governors on NBC's "Meet the Press" dealt with Watergate and President Nixon's refusal to supply additional evidence sought by the House impeachment probe and special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

Three governors from each party said Nixon should supply the material sought by the House Judiciary Committee. Democrat Jimmy Carter of Georgia and Republican Tom McCall of Oregon said failure to do so would be grounds for removing Nixon from office.

"He should give them everything they want or step down as President," said McCall, the only Republican governor who wants Nixon to resign from office.

"I personally believe the President is guilty, and I think that the release of evidence will prove it," Carter said.

Those who said they thought Nixon should provide the materials sought by the House panel were Evans, and Govs. Daniel Walker, D-Ill., Wendell R. Anderson, D-Minn., and Wendell H. Ford, D-Ky.

Evans was asked at the news conference if he could forsee a situation in which Nixon would be justified in balking at a Supreme Court order to supply Watergate evidence.

He said the question was "too speculative" but noted any court decision is composed of a verdict and a written opinion.

"The opinion itself may be highly qualified and as such might not clearly represent an impeachable offense if the President were to say 'No,'" said Evans, who is not a lawyer.

Disagreement emerged over the impact of Watergate on the mood of the country.

Carter, who heads the Democratic campaign drive for the November congressional and gubernatorial elections, said "Watergate is really an embarrassing thing for the American people.

"It's kind of like having an illegitimate child in the family. You know it's happened. You know who is responsible. But you don't want to talk about it much in public."

Phelps publicizing ombudsman role

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The office of Lt. Gov. William C. Phelps is spending about $100 this week to publicize the lieutenant governor's role as ombudsman, a person who deals with citizens' complaints about government.

Letters, slides and tape recordings are being sent to 110 radio stations and 27 television stations.

A spokesmen for Phelps' office estimated the cost to make the tapes at $75 and the postage at about $30.

The tapes have one 60-second announcement, three 30-second spots and two at 10 seconds each.

The letters ask the stations to air the material as a public service. In the tapes, Phelps cites examples of how he has helped people get income tax refunds and aid to the blind payments.

The lieutenant governor's office also reported he has written the University of Missouri curators, inquiring about closed meetings and whether they violated the open meetings law.

Phelps has worked as ombudsman for about a year. The legislature has not appropriated any extra money for the job. For the past two sessions, bills proposing to set up a state office of citizens' complaints have failed in the legislature.

Phelps has a secretary, an administrative assistant and two summer interns. He expects to get another summer intern in the next week.

Ann Landers

Snooping moms lack something

Dear Ann Landers: I hope I'm not too late to get in on the fracas about the mother who read her daughter's diary.

Girls don't need all that privacy and neither do boys. I read anything I find lying around -- letters, diaries, notes in my kids' pockets, it makes no difference. I am deeply interested in what my children are doing and the best way to find out is to keep my eyes open for any and all clues.

My own daughter (now grown and the mother of six) told me that a friend off hers would never have known that her son was selling dope if she hadn't read his mail. Luckily she was able to get him to stop before he was arrested.

Five women in this office agree there is NOTHING we wouldn't do to protect our children. -- Snoopy Mom

Dear Mom: Sorry, but if snooping is the only way a mother can learn what her children are doing, something is wrong with the relationship.

One of the reasons our government, at the highest level, has lost its credibility is becaus several young men thought as you do. They broke into an office like a bunch of common thieves in search of information to use against a political candidate, and look at where it has led us.

Dear Ann Landers: My parents were divorced four years ago. I am 18, living at home with my mother and stepfather and a 17- year- old brother who has been in and out of trouble with the law.

The problem is my mother. She and I don't get along very well. The main thing we fight about is that I want to see my real father. She says if I go to see him I can never come home.

All this is making a nervous wreck out of me. I want to move out of the house and share an apartment with a friend. I think we can hack it financially. Mom says once I leave she won't let me back in the house.

I need someone to advise me. What is the wise thing to do? -- Getting Ulcers At 18

Dear Friend: You've left too many gaps in your story for me to give you a green light to move, which is what you really want.

I don't know if you are in school, or if you plan to quit school and go to work. I know nothing about your real father -- whether or not he has expressed any interest in seeing you, or if he has contributed to your support. Has he remarried? There are too many unanswered question that would bear heavily on my answer.

I suggest you discuss this problem with your favorite aunt, a clergyman or a family counselor -- someone who could evaluate your situation based on all the facts.

Dear Ann Landers: I need to know right away if it is possible for a virgin to become pregnant the first time she has sexual relations. My friends say no, but the girl has a few symptoms of pregnancy and I'm beginning to wonder.

Please answer in the paper. This is important, not only to me but to others who may be relying on false information. -- Idaho Question

Dear Ida: The answer is yes. A girl can become pregnant the first time she has sexual relations.

Produce executive explains meaning of commodity grades

WASHINGTON, D.C. --Consumers are frequently confused when they see U.S. Department of Agriculture grades for fresh fruits and vegetables used at retail level.

Since grade names are sometimes used by retailers at the point -of -sale, John H. Beauchamp, president of the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association, explained recently what these USDA grade standards are --as well as what they are not.

"Grade standards," says Beauchamp, "were developed to enable growers and buyers to communicate with precise understanding across great distances.

"Once a series of standards had been established for a commondity, a California grower and a wholesaler in the East could understand exactly what the seller was offering and then determine price on that basis.

"At no time, he adds, "was this program intended as a guide for consumers. Nonetheless, they have been beneficial to consumers because of the greater marketing efficiencies achieved through their use."

Since the first ones were promulgated in 1917, grade standards have been developed for approximately 80 fresh fruits and vegetables. Each standard carefully describes the quality requirements for each grade of the commodity, with the highest grade representing the most desired qualities.

And according to Beauchamp, the lower grades represent quality levels that are of good value and sellable under normal market supply conditions, although below the top grade.

"Confusion among consumers arose," Beauchamp says, "when crop improvements yielded fruits and vegetables that were better than the established standards for Grade No. 1.

"Some commodities are now described by USDA grade standards as 'U.S. Extra Fancy,' 'U.S. Fancy' or 'U.S. Extra No. 1' as well as by 'U.S. No. 1.' The difficulty is that any of these can denote top grade for an individual commodity." Beauchamp points out.

"What it all boils down to," he says, " is that while consumers should take produce grades into account, they shouldn't rely too heavily on this information.

"First of all, poor handling in the chain distribution and in the store can render grades meaningless. Produce that at harvest was properly considered top quality can be mishandled to the point that it would no longer be so graded.

"The shopper must be guided by common sense knowledge of what constitues value when she shops for produce."he notes.

Beauchamp, who is also president of Ben E. Keith Company, Fort Worth, Texas, points out that the USDA is studying the lack of uniformity in its existing grade classifications to seek ways to make grade descriptions for all commodities more meaningful to all users. While still not intended as standards at the retail level, such uniformity would eliminate much of the existing confusion.

For most fresh fruits and vegetables, USDA has issued an individual standard consisting of a leaflet specifying grade requirements in terms of size, appearance, color, weight and condition.

''But, cautions Beauchamp, "these standards are intended as a form of shorthand for communication among growers, wholesalers and supermarket produce buyers."

5 Bulldogs on All-District list

Sikeston's talented senior catcher John Leible leads a parade of Bulldogs to domination of the 1974 All-District team released by the Missouri Sportswriters and Sportscasters today. Sikeston filled five of the 10 spots on this year's Class 1-A team, after compiling an 18-4 record and advancing to regional competition.

It was the third straight year for Sikeston's fleet receiver on the All-District team, and an award well deserved. Leible stroked the ball at a .406 pace, but it was his outstanding speed and defensive abilities that impressed the half dozen or so scouts that followed the receiver over the last half of the season.

Shortstop Rick Eisenbach was named all-district for the second time after a year's hiatus. Eisenbach raised his average nearly 200 points over last year to an unbelievable .485, in addition to doing the job in the field. The senior infielder teamed with his second base counterpart Bill Schatzley (who narrowly missed making the team) for 17 double plays in Sikeston's 22 games. As a leadoff man Eisenbach reached base nearly 70 per cent of the time.

It was also the second time Mitch Walker made the team. The senior right fielder- pitcher was named All-District righthanded pitcher last year, but his outstanding work with the bat and the undeniable contribution of Sikeston's Kenny Stokes in district play, forced Walker's switch to the outfield.

As a known pitcher, Walker had a strong throwing arm that runners were reluctant to take liberties with. At bat, the smallish slugger ripped the ball at a near-.500 pace after a slow start and finished at .388. Mitch also fashioned a 6-1 hurling record and ended his career with an overall 14-2 record for three years.

Kenny Stokes had seen just spot pitching duty until this year, but the two years of varsity competition gave the hard- throwing righthander the maturity to develop into a fine pitcher, instead of a thrower, and Stokes became the bell- cow of the Sikeston staff. Kenny won all three district games for Sikeston to lead the Bulldogs to their first district title since 1971.

Also a third baseman, the lefthanded hitter stroked the ball at a .385 pace in the past season.

Firstbaseman Jim Saulter has been a fearsome threat to opposing pitchers for the past two years, but it was in his senior year that the 6-foot-2, 195- pound first baseman really took hold. Hitting three homers in one game against the tough West Plains Zizzers, Saulters finished with six roundtrippers and a .404 average. He batted cleanup most of the year, leading the team in RBIs with 23 and third in average at .404.

Memphis may wind up with 2

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Memphis, a city that didn't have a professional football team in April, may have two this month.

"It's possible the city will have two pro football teams," said Mike Lynn, leader of an eight-year drive to obtain a National Football League expansion team for the city.

NFL supporters say Memphis has a good chance of being named as a franchise site by NFL owners at their meeting Tuesday in New York, in spite of the fact that the World Football League has established the Memphis Southmen.

"I am cautiously optimistic, but I don't want to predict any longer what the NFL may or may not do," said Lynn, president of Mid-South Sports Inc. "Memphis was the favorite city of the NFL owners prior to the April meetings and I have found the owners' position the same."

Lamar Hunt, owner of the NFL Kansas City Chiefs, said Memphis has a high level of interest from a 14 or more of the NFL's 26 owners.

LL play to open tonight

The Sikeston Little League baseball season is scheduled to open tonight with two games in each of three leagues for a total of six contests at 6:30 and 8 o'clock on three fields.

American League openers tonight pit Bridger against Caproco in the first game and Righter against Fabick in the second. National League lidlifters match Lewis Furniture with Jaycees and Security National Bank with Kiwanis Club. Musial League curtain- raisers send Kingsway Plaza against Hart's Bread and Bank of Sikeston against Collins.

Youngsters receive baseball tips

Don Miller of Sikeston watches as a young baseball player takes a swing at a ball at the baseball clinic held Sunday afternoon at the VFW stadium. The clinic, sponsored by Sikeston businessmen, was designed to have players with professional experience teach boys baseball skills, techniques and fundamentals. ST. LOUIS (AP) — If putting it all together means success in baseball, the San Diego Padres have yet to learn the lesson.

The Padres, the tailenders of the National League West, pounded out 17 hits Sunday but somehow managed to come up losers again, 9-6.

"That's been our story," sighed gray-haired Manager John McNamara, whose club led the St. Louis Cardinals 6-5 in the eighth inning.

"When we get pitching we haven't been getting any hitting," McNamara lamented. "When we get hitting, we haven't been getting the pitching."

Pitching, however, was not the Padres' worst suit until an erratic infield opened the door for the Cardinals, who made the most of nine hits.

Fleet Bake McBride was safe on Rich Morales' error to star the St. Louis eighth. Ken Reitz was walked purposely then Luis Melendez singled sharply for a 6-6 deadlock.

Cards newcomer Jack Heidemann forced Melendez with Reitz holding second, Tom Heintzelman singled on the infield and Ted Sizemore walked to force home Reitz.

That gave the Cards a 7-6 edge and enough to win but Reggie Smith's third hit, a single, produced two bonus unearned runs.

The Cards got two runs in the sixth off two singles, two walks and a passed ball for a 5-3 lead.

San Diego got one of the runs back on Dave Roberts' pop fly double in the seventh and climbed on top on run-producing singles by Bobby Tolan and Willie McCovey an inning later.

Veteran Tim McCarver afterward had words to summarize the loose marathon, which featured the deployment of six Cards pitchers among 35 players in all.

"It was one of the weirder ones, but you're absolved from all mistakes if you win," he noted. "It's not that easy to go out there every day and not be flat. We were flat and we were lucky."

Vicente Romo, 1-2, the third Padres hurler, was the victim and 38-year-old Orlando Pena, 3-0, the benefactor in relief.

"We're going to take them," maintained Smith, who totaled four runs batted in. "We're not too proud."

Sore A's no joke to AL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Oakland A's are still mad at the world ... and the rest of the American League's West Division isn't laughing much, either.

The A's, who seem to play best when they're sore about something, had a couple of gripes as they ran their winning streak to four games and 17 of 23 with Sunday' 6-4 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.

The two-time world champs are starting to put some daylight between themselves and the rest of the division. After the victory over the Brewers, the A's have a 3½-game bulge over the second-place Kansas City Royals.

Elsewhere, the Baltimore Orioles nipped the Texas Rangers 6-5 in 10 innings, the Boston Red Sox outslugged the Chicago White Sox 9-7, the Cleveland Indians trimmed Kansas City 5-2, the New York Yankees pounded the Minnesota Twins 11-1 and the Detroit Tigers shaded the California Angels 2-0.

Winning pitcher Catfish Hunter was angry about being lifted. And some A's were upset by a post-game player move that saw backup first baseman Pat Bourque sent to the minors.

Hunter checked the Brewers on seven hits, including Bob Coluccio's second-inning homer, before giving way to Rollie Fingers after two-out singles by George Scott and Darrell Porter in the eighth inning. Bob Hansen greeted the reliever with a run-scoring single.

Bourque, hitting a solid .286, was farmed out to make room for light-hitting infielder Dal Maxvill, reactivated from the disabled list.

Oakland's key hitting was done by Reggie Jackson, who slammed his 14th and 15th home runs, and Joe Rudi, who cracked a three-run shot.

Orioles 6, Rangers 5

Rich Coggins singled home pinch runner Al Bumbry with two out in the 10th inning, giving rookie Wayne Garland his first major league triumph with 5 2-3 innings of two-hits relief.

Red Sox 9, White Sox 7

Rico Petrocelli drilled a pair of two-run homers, one of them capping a five-run third inning. The victory was the 11th in the last 14 games for the Red Sox and gave them a 1¼-game lead over Milwaukee in the American League East.

Indians 5, Royals 2

Solo homers by Leron Lee, Oscar Gamble and Dave Duncan boosted Gaylord Perry and the Indians over Kansas City.

Yankees 11, Twins 1

Home runs by Lou Piniella, Rick Dempsey and Ron Blomberg sparked a seven-run sixth inning that helped Mel Stottlemyre snap a personal fivegame losing streak and post his first victory since April 30.

Tigers 2, Angels 0

Norm Cash broke up a scoreless duel with an eighth-inning home run and Woodie Fryman and John Hiller blanked California on four hits.

Longshot pockets $50,000

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — He'd often considered quitting. He'd won less than $30,000 in 3½ years. Car trouble coming into Charlotte had just about busted him. He was down to gas money to the next stop. His wife was cooking hamburgers in the motel room.

And, with that background and that pressure, longshot Bob Menne birdied the final hole of regulation play to gain a tie and then scored from 30 feet on the first hole of sudden death to win the $50,000 first prize in the Kemper Open Golf Tournament.

"It means everything to me," the curly-haired man from Massachusetts said after his dramatic triumph Sunday. "It means the Masters and the Tournament of Champions. And it means money.

"Golly, $50,000."

Menne, 32, a struggler throughout his six-year tour career, whipped an iron shot to within six feet of the cup for the birdie on the 72nd hole that caught front-running Jerry Heard, then defeated the easygoing guy with the dramatic birdie putt on the first playoff hole.

"If I have to lose," said Heard, "I'm glad it's to Bob. He needs the money. I'm glad it's him and not somebody like (Jack) Nicklaus that's got more money than he'll ever need."

And Nicklaus and all the other great names in the game were in the field.

8 states to hold primaries Tuesday

The year's biggest flurry of primary elections hits eight states Tuesday when voters choose nominees to succeed retiring governors in California and New Mexico and a U.S. senator in Iowa.

Also at stake are nominations for senator and governor in South Dakota, a Senate seat in California, the governorship of Iowa and 76 U.S. House seats in the eight states. Forty-three of the House seats are in California.

Eighteen Democrats and six Republicans want to succeed GOP Gov. Ronald Reagan, who is stepping down after two terms and preparing for a possible White House bid in 1976.

Public opinion polls indicated the clear front-runners were Democrat Edmund G. Brown Jr., 36, son of the governor that Reagan defeated in 1966, and Republican Houston I. Flournoy, 44, California state controller. Brown is California secretary of state.

In New Mexico, six Democrats and four Republicans are bidding for nominations to succeed Democratic Gov. Bruce King, who cannot succeed himself.

Iowa Democrat Harold E. Hughes is vacating his U.S. Senate seat, abandoning politics to become a religious lay leader.

Democratic Rep. John C. Culver is unopposed for the nomination for Hughes' seat. State Sen. George Milligan and State Rep.David Stanely, who lost to Hughes six years ago, are in the GOP primary.

Republican Gov. Robert D. Ray of Iowa is unopposed in his party renomination bid. There are three Democratic candidates.

In South Dakota, Gov. Richard F. Kneip's bid for a third term is challenged in the Democratic primary by Lt. Gov. William Dougherty, his running mate in the past two campaigns.

Democratic Sen. George McGovern is unopposed for his party' renomination, while three Republicans compete to battle him in the general election, including retired Air Force Col. Leo K. Thorsness, who spent six years in a North Vietnamese prison camp.

U.S. House nominations are at stake in New Jersey, Montana and Mississippi.

In California, Sen. Alan Cranston faced only token opposition from two other Democrats. There were five Republicans in the race including state Sen. H. L. Richardson and Earl Brian, former health and welfare secretary under Reagan.

The California election could provide a test of potential reaction to Watergate and related political scandals.

Since 1969 Republican Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke, 50, was considered the front-runner and apparent heir of Reagan's support for the gubernatorial nomination. But his support weakened and his campaign funds virtually dried up when he was indicted by a Watergate grand jury on three counts of lying to the Senate Judiciary Committee in 1972.

Californians also will decide a major political reform measure put on the ballot by petition campaign in reaction to Watergate.

Students can apply for education grants

WASHINGTON, D.C. --Students who need money for their education after high school may now apply for Basic Educational Opportunity Grants for the 1974 -75 academic year.

The $475 million available is expected to provide grants ranging from $50 to about $800 with an average of about $475.

Although limited this year to full -time students who began their post -secondary education after April 1, 1973, the program is expected to benefit an estimated one million students who might otherwise be unable to continue their education. Along with other Federal programs of student financial aid, the Basic Grant Program marks significant progress toward the Administration's ultimate goal of making postsecondary education available to all young people who desire it.

Under the Basic Grant Program, students in financial need may obtain funds to help pay their educational expenses at any approved college, university, vocational school, technical institute, or hospital school of nursing. The amount for which a student is eligible is based on a formula annually developed by the U.S. Office of Education.

To apply for a Basic Grant, an "Application of Determination of Basic Grant Eligibility" must be obtained, filled out, and mailed to BEOG, P.O. Box 2264, Washington, D.C. 20013. Within a month the student is notified of the amount of his eligibility index. He then submits this notification to the school of his choice, which calculates the amount of the Basic Grant to which he is entitled.

Application forms are now available at student financial aid offices at postsecondary institutions, high school guidance offices, Talent Search, Upward Bound, Student Special Services projects, and public libraries. If unavailable in your ares, write to BEOG, P.O. Box 84, Washington, D.C. 20044.

Other forms of Federal student assistance such as Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants, College Work -Study, National Direct Student Loans, and Guaranteed Student Loans may be available in addition to basic grants.

For further information on basic grants and other student financial aid programs, students should contact their high school counselor or the financial aid officer at the school in which they are enrolled or expect to enroll.

Council to hear report

The City Council is expected to hear a report on a study of the See-Mor Cable TV rate increase request when it meets at 7:30 p.m. today.

The report is being made by a committee of three councilmen and Acting City Manager Bill Whitlock, who were appointed at the council's last meeting to study a certified audit of the cable TV company's financial status and make a recommendation on the request.

See-Mor is asking for a monthly increase of 50 cents.

Also on the agenda is a legal opinion from City Attorney Manuel Drumm on municipal contributions to non- city welfare groups.

Other items to be considered include additions to the lease with the Chamber of Commerce for their building at the airport; rezoning of lot 8, block two of the Dement and Ziegenhorn subdivision, and bids for a new truck for the humane officer.

World news in brief

JERUSALEM (AP) — Yitzhak Rabin's new cabinet takes over Israel's government today. The central committee of Israel's ruling Labor party unanimously approved Rabin's cabinet lineup Sunday, and the new government was slated to receive the endorsement today of the Knesset, the Israeli parliament. The final meeting of Premier Golda Meir's cabinet Sunday marked the departure from the government of four longdominant members of the Israeli Establishment: Mrs. Meir, Defense Minister Moshe Dayan, Foreign Minister Abba Eban and Finance Minister Pinhas Sapir.

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — Syrian and Israeli generals reported "considerable progress" Sunday in their talks to arrange a timetable for the troop disengagement negotiated by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger. "Progress was also made in discussing other collateral matters," said a communique issued by Gen. Herzl Shafir of Israel and Gen. Adnan Tayara of Syria. The Kissinger agreement calls for them to complete their work by Wednesday.

LONDON (AP) — The British Parliament interrupted its spring vacation today for an emergency debate on the future of Northern Ireland amid growing sentiment for British withdrawal from the province after nearly five years of bloodshed. Prime Minister Harold Wilson called Parliament back into session after the collapse of attempts to govern Northern Ireland by a coalition of moderate Protestants and Catholics. The coalition government resigned and the British government resumed direct rule of the province after a 15-day general strike led by militant Protestants opposed to sharing power with the Catholics.

FLIXBOROUGH, England (AP) — The British government today ordered a major inquiry into the Nypro chemical plant explosion Saturday that killed 29 persons and injured 105, according to latest official reports. All the reported dead were workers at the factory in rural eastern England, but most injured were civilians living in the neighboring countryside. About 100 homes in nearby villages were ruined.

FAIRFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Kenneth Kays is not your government-issue hero. His victory garden is full of marijuana, and he is determined to keep it as a symbol of his freedom. Kays, 24, won the Medal of Honor and was honored at the White House for his heroism in Vietnam.

A draft resister-turned-medic, Kays lost a leg in battle in May 1970 but repeatedly crawled past his lines to rescue and treat wounded comrades. Today he is battling over a 1,000 square-foot patch near his trailer in this southern Illinois town where he farms the illegal marijuana plants for his own personal use. Kays has been arrested twice and convicted once for possession and cultivation of marijuana.

He was sentenced to one year of probation. Two weeks after his first arrest, the sheriff discovered Kays was still growing marijuana and arrested him again. "I don't wish to fight, but I'm not going to quit," he said.

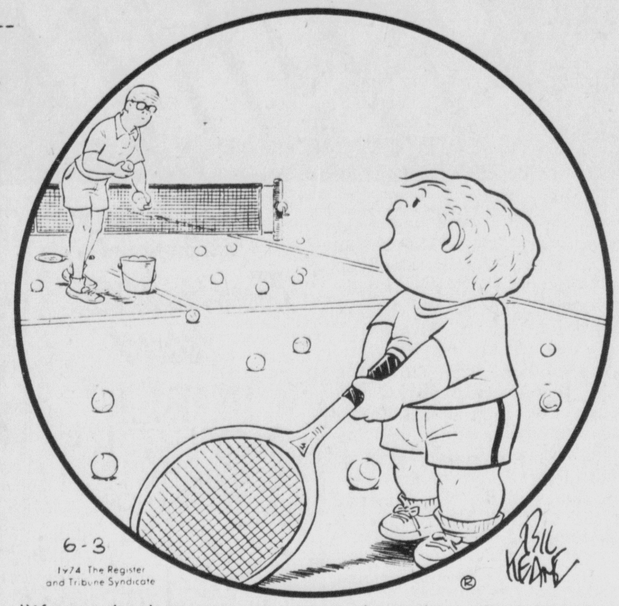
OUT OUR WAY — by Neg Cochran

THE FAMILY CIRCUS — By Bil Keane



"If you had gotten me started at this when I was younger, Daddy, I'd be REALLY good by now."

Today in U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, June 3, the 154th day of 1974. There are 211 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date:

In 1621, the Dutch West India Company received a charter for New Netherlands — now New York.

In 1808, Confederate President Jefferson Davis was born in what is now Todd County, Ky.

In 1937, the Duke of Windsor married Wallis Warfield Simpson of Baltimore, Md., in France.

In 1942, in World War II, Japanese warplanes raided Dutch Harbor, Alaska.

In 1962, 30 members of an Atlanta, Ga., art group were killed in an airliner crash at Paris, France.

In 1966, a surveyor one spacecraft was relaying back pictures of the Lunar surface after making America's first soft landing on the moon.

Ten years ago: President Lyndon Johnson described American military might as awesome, saying it exceeded the combined might of all the nations in world history.

Five years ago: President Nixon denounced what he called the self-righteous moral arrogance of college extremists but urged the nation to heed the demands of the young for honesty in American life.

One year ago: a Soviet supersonic airliner crashed during an international air show near Paris, killing the six crewmen and seven French villagers.

Today's birthdays: Actor Tony Curtis is 49 years old. Poet Allen Ginsberg is 48.

Thought for today: A prophet is not without honor, save in his own country, and in his own house — the Bible.

Drummer Spencer Dryden, formerly of the Jefferson Airplane, now of the New Riders of the Purple Sage, says, "Well, the Grateful Dead made their mark without cracking the singles market. We did it without touching the record market."

He said that just as "The Adventures of Panama Red," the fourth LP by the New Riders of the Purple Sage, came out and now it isn't true any more. This LP is selling, up to No. 32 on the Dec. 8 best-selling chart and climbing. However, the group still hasn't cracked the singles market.

Previous LPs on Columbia have been "The New Riders of the Purple Sage," "Powerglide" and "Gypsy Cowboy." The group had hopes for the singles "L.A. Lady" and "Groupie," but they didn't happen.

The Riders of the Purple Sage, says John Collins Dawson IV, known as Marmaduke, lead vocalist and rhythm guitarist, "were like the Sons of the Pioneers, smooth country, sleepy harmonies, acoustic, songs like 'Cool Water' and 'Casey Jones.' Twenty-nine part harmony."

The New Riders of the Purple Sage, which got together in 1969, was more country at first than now. There are rock 'n' roll songs now, lead singing usually done for those by Dave Torbert, bassist. Dave Nelson plays lead guitar.

The New York Times called the music at a concert this fall "tripping cowboy rock, friendly and innocent in its sentiments." Dawson says, "Most of our country tunes are of fairly recent origin, like "Truck-Driving Man" and "Six Days on the Road."

At first, Jerry Garcia from the Grateful Dead played pedal steel guitar. Dawson says, "Jerry Garcia joins splinter groups a lot. Basically what he does is pick.

"We met Buddy Cage on a train ride across Canada in 1970. He was in Great Speckled Bird at that time. Later we were able to drag him out of Canada. His pedal steel is much more primo than Jerry's is going to be for a while yet."

Cage is the most recent member of the quintet, joining in November 1971. Dawson says, "It is still growing but it is more together now. Before it had Mikey Hart, the drummer from the Dead. It had a part-time orientation on the part of a lot of the folks.

"Jerry Garcia played with us in the function of a banjoist and he learned pedal steel guitar. He definitely brings an aura with him that is nice to have with you on the stage. And we got a lot of exposure, going around as opening act for the Dead."

Dawson tells about the group's first work. "We walked into this club in Cotati, Calif., in wine country, and told the man we had a band and we want a job. He said, 'I don't want any of this noisy rock 'n' roll in this place, man.' We told him we went in for acoustic. '"We told him it wasn't loud, nasty rock 'n' roll. We had 'The Eagle Song" a nice, slow, laid-back tune. We played tunes I was making up at the time and our favorites off the radio, 'Quinn the Eskimo' and 'Honky Tonk Women.' We got the gig there the next weekend. Sonoma State College students came in."

The group has been touring for three years and they've been having trouble with timing. They'll arrive to play at a college on a Friday when school was adjourned Thursday, be out on the road when there's no record to plug or have a record and not be plugging it. They hope to straighten that out.

Also, on the new album, Norbert Putnam produced. Dawson says, "We'd tried to produce them all ourselves before. They weren't coming up stuff that seemed like top 40 stations were playing them. A producer helps you thin your stuff down to the essence of it and puts a consistent idea to recording and mixing of a record.

"We dragged Norbert out of Nashville. We couldn't afford to go, the mob of us, and stay in a hotel there. We could afford to ask him to come out. Maybe if we can break into a new level, we'll go there and do it the next time. It'd be more fun, five people hanging out for two weeks.

"He took the tapes back to Nashville and put an all-girl chorus on it and got the Memphis Horns to come down. They won't quit, man; they came in and socked it to some tracks."

Dryden says, "We do a couple of songs by Peter Rowan, who used to be with Earth Opera. We did a couple of jobs with them in the Northwest and California. Both songs flashed us. We asked Peter if we could use them and he said yes. We brought them out first; his version will probably come out this coming year. We came out with the cover version before the original."

Flash is a favorite word for this group. They were flashed by "Driftaway," a record by Dobie Gray. They are flashed by Commander Cody and the Lost Planet Airmen, with whom they have played a number of gigs lately.

Cage says, "The secret to success is playing a bill with Cody. They play first and they play tight. You have to play good. Torbert adds, "They're a laugh riot. They're enjoyable; you have a superior good time with them."

Dryden says, "I left the Airplane in May 1970. I quit music altogether. I bought a boat; I'd love to sell it. I joined this bunch in December 1970. This is different but it is getting crazy again. People are coming around, dealing cocaine. The bigger it gets, the more pressure you have on you to go on and do more things. The last record didn't sell so much, so we've got to make the next one sell. There's pressure to write songs."

For Buddy Cage success means something else. "Did you know 'Summer Breeze' by Seals and Crofts was started on its way up by a guy in a Boston radio station programming it? They only introduce three records to the playlist every week and 200 records come out — to be one of those three! Far out. It's pretty well sewed up with people who've already been there. It's like the rich get richer.

"I was coming from Eugene, Ore., to Los Angeles and on the AM radio I heard one of our songs. The whole dream of the kid who's been listening to the radio all his life. Bugging down your road in your el caro. 'Yes, sir, that was the New Riders.' It is a flash. Definitely a flash."

There's no pride to match that of a young man proudly displaying the product of "his very own" first gardening effort. Thanks to pelletized "Sow-Easy" seed, the youngest gardener can honestly claim full credit for his product, from shovel to salad. Admittedly, with a 1.5 pound Giant Beefsteak tomato in hand, it is rather difficult for father to tease, "Are you gonna grow some big ones next year?"

Demo finance plan has 1,185 members

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The "Committee of 10,000" financing plan of the Missouri Democratic Party now has 1,185 paid-up members, state party officials say.

A financial report at Saturday's state meeting, called to approve a delegate selection plan for the Dec. 6-8 national mid-term convention in Kansas City, showed the state party has cut its debt from the 1972 elections to $29,500.

The debt originally was about $60,000.

The committee of 10,000, proposed by state Treasurer James I. Spainhower, has contributed $41,981 in the past year. More than $4,000 has been distributed to county and ward committees and the rest has gone to pay off debts and operating expenses.

The $1,000-a-year "Mule Skinners" club, with 26 paid-up members, has contributed $22,566, the committee's financial statement said.

The $10-a-year "regular members," with 1,038 members, have paid $10,385.

The $25-a-month "True Truman Democrats," 27 of them, have paid $4,400. The 36 $10-amonth "Grass Rooters" have paid $2,240. And 58 of the $5-amonth "sustaining members" have paid $2,390.

In other action, Jefferson City lawyer Richard Nacy was approved as the new executive director of the central office, replacing Will Davis.

State Rep. Richard Rabbitt, D-St. Louis, passed out green "Run Rabbitt '76" buttons. Rabbitt said several months ago at the Springfield Jackson days event that he is considering running for the lieutenant governor's office in 1976.

Secretary of State James C. Kirkpatrick announced that two-thirds of all eligible voters in the state now are registered. The last day to register under Missouri's new statewide voter registration law is July 10.

Auction funds to restore home

JACKSON --The Jackson Community Betterment Association has scheduled an auction beginning at 10 a.m. Saturday to raise funds to complete restoration of a historic old home --the Oliver House. Robert Burett Oliver, for whom the house is named, was a force in southeast Missouri business and politics during the early part of this century and the latter part of last century.

The sale will be held in the high school stadium and gymnasium with four auctioneers outside and rummage sale inside. The association hopes to raise $25,000.

Included in the sale will be donated items, ranging from antiques to a large number of business donations.

In the antique section, items will range from a Jenny Lind bed to old quilts and wicker furniture. Other donations include collectors items from politicians, entertainers and athletes.

Items from business firms and manufacturers are all new merchandise or services, some with values in the hundreds of dollars, that will go to the highest bidder. The miscellaneous category includes items from used cars to live pigs, from furniture to kitchen appliances, and from handmade afghans to arts and crafts.

Everything for this fund raising sale has been donated, either by individuals or businesses. Even the proceeds from lunch on the grounds, which will be provided by two civic clubs, will go to the project. The auctioneers are donating their services. Most every Jackson club or organization has had some part in the planning and carrying out of the auction.

Mrs. D. Warren Salzmann, general chairman said the sale is going to be something to see for others in the southeast Missouri region --whether they come to catch a bargain in the bidding or simply to observe how their community might support a pet project. Officials from the auction committee will be available to answer any questions about the project.

What's the law?

The case of the tricky hunter

By JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

Marvin bought a hunting lodge which he immediately insured against fire. He had his own idea, however, how to protect it against burglary. He hung up a sign outside the lodge that warned "Beware of trap guns inside lodge."

Actually, tricky Marvin didn't even have a firecracker in the building, no less a trap gun. The sign was merely a psychological hoax to keep intruders away. But, when the lodge subsequently caught fire, the local firefighters exhibited no intention of questioning the veracity of the sign and permitted the lodge to burn to the ground.

Thus, when Marvin later attempted to collect for his loss under his fire insurance policy, he was turned down cold.

"You've got to be joking in asking us to pay you," he was told. "You scared the firemen away with your sign. If it hadn't been for that sign, your lodge might have been saved."

"Baloney," was Marvin's irate answer. "The sign was intended to keep out burglars and not firemen. Besides, the existence or nonexistence of the sign has nothing to do with my claims. Upon the happening of a fire, my policy says I'm to be paid. Consequently, I'm entitled to be paid."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit tricky Marvin to collect for the fire?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that the insurance company had not agreed to insure a building where the owner would prevent firemen from extinguishing a fire. And, noted the judge, by putting up the "beware" sign, Marvin had deterred the firefighters from entering the lodge as effectively as if he had stationed armed guards at the door.

Highlights and sidelights

Governor signs repeal tax on household goods

JEFFERSON CITY --This is the last year Missourians will be able not to declare great -grandma's Chippendale chairs, $5,000 mink coat and the $10,000 diamond ring on their personal property tax statements. After January 1, they won't be taxable anyway.

Legislation abolishing the state's personal tax on furniture and other household goods, clothing and jewelry was signed into law last week by Gov. Christopher S. Bond.

The repeal was mandated in a constitutional amendment approved by voters in November, 1972, and passed the legislative sessions that ended April 30.

The tax had been criticized because it was difficult to enforce and, as a result, inequitably enforced.

Its repeal will mean the loss of an estimated $14 million in revenues to school districts and other local governmental units. However, Bond predicted that stronger new tax collection laws will offset much of the lost revenue.

A measure requiring personal property tax receipts to list the number of vehicles on which personal property taxes are paid is expected to produce an additional $12 million in tax revenues, according to the governor.

A loophole in the present law has allowed motorists to obtain license plates for several vehicles with a personal property tax receipt for taxes paid on only one.

Provisions to reimburse local governments for lost revenues were included in the repeal bill adopted by the legislature, but Bond said he would not include any money for such reimbursements in his budget.

"To appropriate approximately $14 million to local governments from already scarce state resources would insure a statewide tax increase by 1976," Bond said.

In a separate action last week, Gov. Bond moved to make Robert L. James his Commissioner of Administration in name as well as deed.

The governor annnounced James' appointment to the post effective June 1.

James has served as acting head of the Office of Administration for the past year and a half, but carried the title of assistant to the governor for administration.

Bond first appointed James to the post in January, 1973, but the appointment was later withdrawn when questions were raised as to whether he met the five -year residency requirement for the office.

A native of Webb City, James had attended college out of state. He received a bachelor of science degree in business administration from the University of Tulsa in 1962 and a master's degree in business administration from the University of Arkansas in 1964. He then taught at the University of Tulsa before returning to Missouri in 1969 to join a Joplin accounting firm.

James worked for the Joplin firm for nearly two years before becoming a deputy state auditor under the state autitor Christopher S. Bond.

"By June of this year, he will have been a bona fide resident of Missouri consistently for more than five years," Bond said of James in his announcement. "The technical objections to his appointment is removed."

James' appointment is subject to Senate confirmation.

The state Department of Revenue has found itself in the awkward position of trying to give money away instead of collect it.

Revenue Department officials say they have approximately $50,000 in refunds for 1971 they haven't been able to return because they can't locate the more than 2,000 taxpayers due the money. Address changes or illegible addresses on the tax forms are blamed on the problem.

If not claimed by the end of the year, the money will revert to the state treasurey.
